THE ST. LEGER CHANCES

Hyperion Much Favoured To Win

AIR-MAIL LETTER ON RECENT FORM

London, September 12.

If the consensus of opinion of owners and trainers is any criterion to go by, the St. Leger is a certainty for the Derby winner, Hyperion, but this race is famous for surprises as witness the failure of Cameronian and Orwell. Lambton the trainer of Hyperion, Highlander and Scarlet Tiger, says all is well and sound with his horses, though Hyperion has proved that he is no smasher on hard going.

Dawson, trainer of Harinero, says his horse will run well but he cannot see Harinero or any other horse beating Hyperion.

Bell, the trainer of King Salmon says the same of his charge.

Behrens, the owner of Light Sussex, says his candidate is the "Hope of the North," and the horse is very fit.

H.H. The Aga Khan, whose sensational luck last year is still fresh in the minds of racegoers, says with regard to Felicitation's chances of winning that the horse has no hope of beating Hyperion or King Salmon.

Alfred Butt is not optimistic of the chances of Young Lover.

Lawson, the trainer of Donasol, Earleton and Raymond, says his charges are thriving.

Sir Abe Bailey, the owner of Raymond expects a prominent display and is the more confident because the champion jockey (Gordon Richards) is riding his horse.

The owner of Interlace and Sanspeine, says the latter has a habit of springing surprises.

Elliott, the jockey for the French Challenger, Thor, is well satisfied with the horse's prospects of winning.

SCARLET TIGER'S REVERSE

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, August 30.

Within little more than a fortnight the last of the season's classic races will be run. (The race, of course, actually takes place to-day, September 13.) The most important incident bearing on the situation during the past week

was the defeat of Scarlet Tiger at Stockton, an unexpected event,

which at first glance appeared to discount his prospects of winning the St. Leger. On reflection, however, it was realised that it was not altogether a surprising thing

that Light Sussex should beat him

at a difference of 7 lb. If one refers back to the Free Handicap,

compiled at the end of last season,

it will be seen that Scarlet Tiger

was handicapped at 8 st. 11 lb.

and Light Sussex at 8 st. 4 lb.

Thus they were meeting last week

on exactly the same terms as they would have done had they run for the Free Handicap in the Spring.

All this was forgotten when people came to bet on the Stockton race.

Odds of 7 to 2 were laid on Lord

Durham's colt, whereas, Light

Sussex was on offer at 6 to 1, a disparity certainly not justified by public performances.

Where most folk were wrong was in the assumption that the Malton

colt would not stay the mile and five furlongs. I know that before the Derby Elsey tried his colt to stay the distance, and he was much disappointed that Light Sussex

failed to do better than finish

ninth in that race. Fault in the colt

had so completely disappeared

that in the early part of the week

the book-makers were offering 100

to 1 against him for the St. Leger, while Scarlet Tiger was second favourite for that race at 5 to 1.

To-day we find Light Sussex at 25's

for the classic event, and the other has gone out a point. This represents their respective chances

at Doncaster fairly accurately. If we are to judge them on their latest running Scarlet Tiger should have no difficulty in reversing the placings on the Town Moor. An important point to remember is that the Great Northern Leger was not run to suit the favourite. The pace was so poor in the early stages

that Carlsake found it necessary to make his own running, and there is no doubt that this was disadvantageous to his mount.

CLASSIC PROSPECTS.

In these circumstances the race resolved itself into a test

of speed in the last quarter of a mile, and Carlsake discovered that his colt could not make the electrical response

which was demanded of him. Unfortunately none of the Press representatives who usually take the times of races was present at

Stockton, so it is difficult to estimate the pace at which the Great Northern Leger was run, but my impression is that the time would have come out very badly. On the whole, therefore, I am inclined to agree that it was not a genuine test of Scarlet Tiger's staying powers, and I expect him to do

IN HONG KONG TO-DAY

RAIN

Yesterday's weather report, forecast and remarks, issued by the Royal Observatory at 5.10 p.m., stated:—

A moderate anticyclone is centred to the north east of Hokkaido and covers Japan and Adjacent Seas.

The Typhoon is moving westward through the straits of Hainan.

Local Forecast:—E. Winds, strong, moderate; cloudy with rain and squalls improving later.

appreciably better on September 13.

In the meantime the reports of Hyperion continue to be satisfactory. There was something of a scare about him early in the week, but Mr. George Lambton was able to assure his friends that the colt was going on well, and the bookmakers at Stockton, finding that their offers of 3 to 1 against him, were being quickly snapped up, promptly reduced the odds.

But for the set-back which occurred to him early in July, which caused him to be on the easy list

for about three weeks, the Derby winner would now be an even money chance for the St. Leger.

Nobody questions the claim that he is the best three-year-old in the country over a distance of ground.

He has exhibited the speed and

the stamina which we look for

in thoroughbreds of the highest class. There remains the doubt of whether that most lamentable

stifle trouble will reassert itself

either before or actually in the race. The question is important enough to keep the colt fairly easy

in the market.

We have had no recent news of

Thor II, but it is assumed that he is making normal progress, and the bookmakers are careful to take no undue risk with him. At the moment 8 to 1 is the best price

THE LATE LORD GREY

Memorial Service At Westminster Abbey

London, Sept. 11.

The King, the Prince of Wales, the Prime Minister and Mr. Baldwin were represented at the memorial service for Viscount Grey of Fallodon to-day in Westminster Abbey.

The large congregation included statesmen, ambassadors, peers and Members of Parliament of all parties as well as representatives of the organisations of various kinds with which the late Lord Grey was associated.

Sir John Simon, Lord Halsbury and Mr. J. H. Thomas were among the Members of the Cabinet present and Mr. Lloyd George, Mr. Winston Churchill and several other former ministerial colleagues of the late statesman also attended—British Wireless.

PICTURES FOR
THE NATIONSir Edward Stern's BequestOLD MASTERS AND JAPANESE ART
(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, Aug. 23. Famous pictures, including many old masters, will eventually pass to the nation under the will of Sir Edward David Stern, the well-known banker. Details issued on Saturday show that his estate has been sworn at £840,964, with net personality £586,415.

The portrait of his first wife, Dame Constance Stern, by Sir Luke Fildes, R.A.;

The portrait of the Hon. Miss Monckton, by Sir Joshua Reynolds; The picture of Mrs. Jordan as Hippolyta, by J. Hoppner, R.A.;

The picture of Mrs. Stewart, by Sir Henry Raeburn, R.A.;

The picture of Admiral Thompson, by Gainsborough; and

All other his pictures at Carlton House-terrace.

Sir Edward also left his Japanese works of art, curios, ivories, swords, &c., in his house at Carlton House-terrace, S.W., to his wife for life, with remainder to the Victoria and Albert Museum.

All of these are to be known and labelled as the "Sir Edward Stern Collections."

Reynolds and Hoppner

Although the National Gallery does not lack some of the finest pictures by Reynolds the Stern bequest of his famous rendering of that "Queen of Society," the Hon. Mary Monckton, afterwards Countess of Cork, is a very welcome addition.

Painted in 1779, when she was a vivacious "blue-stocking" of 33 (as Boswell called her), the portrait is on a big scale (93in. by 57in.), and is one of the best preserved full-lengths by Reynolds, who found the lady a most engaging sitter. She is shown seated on a stone bench in a park. She holds her left forefinger to the corner of her attractive mouth, and seems to be making one of those lively remarks which enchanted Dr. Johnson.

Her favourite colour was blue, and she is wearing a blue cloak over her muslin gown, with blue bows and sash. The portrait was painted for her father, Viscount Galway, and I remember the scene in the Sir Julian Goldsmid sale at Christie's on June 13, 1896, when it was bought at 7,500 gs for Sir Edward Stern.

The Hoppner portrait of that other dazzling Irishwoman, Mrs. Jordan, who was winning all hearts on the stage when Mary Monckton was drawing the town to her receptions, will be a distinct gain to the national collections, as the painter is scantily represented at Trafalgar-square.

Raeburn's Mrs. Stewart

This small canvas (30in. by 25in.) was painted in 1791, and depicts the actress as "Hippolyta," in Colley Cibber's forgotten comedy, "She Would and She Would Not," sometimes called "The Kind Impostor." The part suited one of the most romping tom-boys ever seen on the stage; although in her masculine garb of white silk, high ostrich-feathered hat, eye-glass in hand, and swagger-sword on her hip, she had to preserve some aristocratic decorum at intervals.

For many years the portrait was in the Earl of Errol's family possession, and joined the Stern collection about thirty years ago. It had caused the French critics to admire it greatly when shown in the Royal Pavillon at Paris in 1900. Sir Henry Irving possessed another version of the actress in this character.

The Raeburn rendering, too, of Mrs. Stewart of Dalguise is a very worthy example of the art of the "Scots Velasquez." It was shown in the "Cent Portraits des Femmes" exhibition, Paris, 1909.

Hogarth used mischievously to prefer Francis Cotes's art to that of Reynolds, who numbered Kitty Fisher among his sitters. Cotes's clever rendering of the lady will be, therefore, another very welcome acquisition.

£60,000 For Pet Charity

Among the other bequests in the late Sir Edward Stern's will are gifts of £60,000 to the Jew's Debt and Dumb Home, Nightingale-lane, S.W., and £5,000 to Miss Harriett Davis, the head teacher. Sir Edward always took a deep and practical interest in the work of the home. Miss Moseley, the secretary, said on Saturday:

"It was his pet charity. For thirteen years he was honorary treasurer. He had been on the committee for fifty years, and president for the last thirty-four years. His generous bequest will enable us to carry out necessary extensions."

"Miss Harriett Davis has done most valuable work for the school since 1917."

PROSECUTION
DISGRACECalcutta Judge in Army Officer's
Case

Calcutta, Aug. 23. Such patent torturing of the evidence by the Prosecution must be unpardonable. Those who appeared for the Prosecution must be made to realise that it was no part of their duty to try by hook or by crook to obtain a conviction, and it was the duty of the magistrate sternly to discountenance such methods, which were but a travesty of justice.

This was the comment made by Mr. Justice Lord-William, who, sitting with Mr. Justice Henderson, acquitted Major Robert Stewart Wauchope, O.B.E. of the Indian Army.

Major Wauchope was sentenced by the Chief Presidency Magistrate to six months' rigorous and a fine of Rs. 1,000 on a charge of criminal breach of trust in respect of Rs. 3,000.

His lordship also observed that Major Wauchope was convicted upon trumped-up and irrelevant facts.

"Lest I be tempted to use harsh words in criticising the procedure," added his lordship, "I will content myself only with saying that this is neither the manner nor the spirit in which a prosecution ought to be conducted or a trial held under the British Crown."

PRINCE'S PLANE MAKES FORCED LANDING

Pilot Escapes Unhurt

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, August 23. The Prince of Wales's new Vickers-Viastra aeroplane made a forced landing last night near Redhill, Surrey, on returning from Le Bourget, to which airport the Prince flew yesterday. The machine was piloted by the Prince's pilot, Flight Lieutenant Edward Hedley Fielden, who escaped unhurt. There were two passengers in the plane—a ground engineer and another flight lieutenant.

Flight Lieutenant Fielden decided to land near Redhill owing to low clouds and bad visibility. The weather was not suitable to fly on to Croydon.

Mr. R. F. Dulstrode, chief inspector of British Air Transport, who saw the landing, said "Flight Lieutenant Fielden chose a field which was being prepared as an aerodrome by British Air Transport, Ltd. The surface of the field has not yet been levelled, and the machine struck a furrow in landing, which was not visible owing to the poor light. The aeroplane slewed round, breaking a propeller, and came to rest on one wing tip and the undercarriage, a side of which was slightly damaged. The machine was only very slightly damaged, and can be repaired in a couple of days."

The Prince's machine left Le Bourget at the same time as Hercules, the giant Imperial Airways liner, and the two aeroplanes flew part of the way together. When the low cloud was struck Hercules made the rest of the journey above the cloud, Flight Lieutenant Fielden flying at a lower level.

The Prince of Wales, after landing at Le Bourget, proceeded to Paris on his way to Biarritz.

INDIAN COTTON
CONFERENCE

Lancashire's Interest

JAPAN'S INVASION OF MARKETS

LONDON, Aug. 23.

A delegation of the Lancashire cotton trade will leave England for Bombay on Thursday to watch the interest of the trade during the coming negotiations between India and Japan.

Two sets of negotiations will be carried on simultaneously. The Government of India will meet an official Japanese delegation in Simla to discuss the future duties on Japanese cotton, rayon and silk when the present Convention expires on October 10. At the same time the textile representatives of the two countries will discuss together the Indian market and the British cotton market in which India is interested.

The Indian market has been invaded during the last year or two by vast quantities of cheap Japanese textiles at prices with which neither the Lancashire nor the Indian producer can compete, but the Indian Government has made it clear that while protecting the important Indian cotton industry, it will also have the duty during the coming negotiations of considering the interests of the consumer.

These negotiations are to be followed in the autumn by a much more important meeting in London between representatives of the British and Japanese industries to deal with the question of the underselling of British goods in neutral markets, which has reduced the Lancashire textile trade to a parlous condition. In the last few years there has been an overwhelming increase in Japanese imports in neutral countries, to the detriment of Lancashire, owing to the low prices made possible by the long hours worked in Japanese mills, low wages, and the depreciation of the yen.

It was reported yesterday that arrangements were being made for the shipment of about 20,000 bales of Indian cotton to this country, to be spun and woven in Lancashire for re-export to India. This is an outcome of the conversations at Ottawa, as a result of which proposals were made to set up an Anglo-Indian organisation to bring the Lancashire spinner into closer touch with the Indian sources of supply of raw cotton. Hitherto, the Indian product, which amounted to nearly 7,000,000 bales in 1929-30, has been nearly all retained for the Indian mills.

According to reports from Nanking, the Soviet Government is planning to establish a Consulate-General in Nanking and have already requested the Chinese authorities to find suitable premises. When the Soviet Consulate opens in Nanking, there will be four of them in this country, that in Tientsin the one opening here and the third in Hankow.

FAIR TRIAL BUT NOT HANGINGEx-President Machado
on Cuba's Intentions

MONTREAL, Sept. 3.

Ex-President Gerardo Machado who arrived here from Nassau and is now heavily guarded in a hotel for fear he will be attacked by assassins, said to-night he would be willing to return to Cuba and stand trial if assured of his personal safety.

"If they really want to bring me to trial on the many charges that have been filed since I was forced to leave the country, I will go back, he said. "However if they merely want to shoot me I have no intention of going any where near my country until there is a change there."

"When the people are stirred up by a carefully prepared political programme of hate, they will believe anything," he added.

Senor Machado denied he embezzled public funds but said his service as President caused him heavy personal losses.

He said that with the temper of the populace what it is, he would probably be executed after any trial.

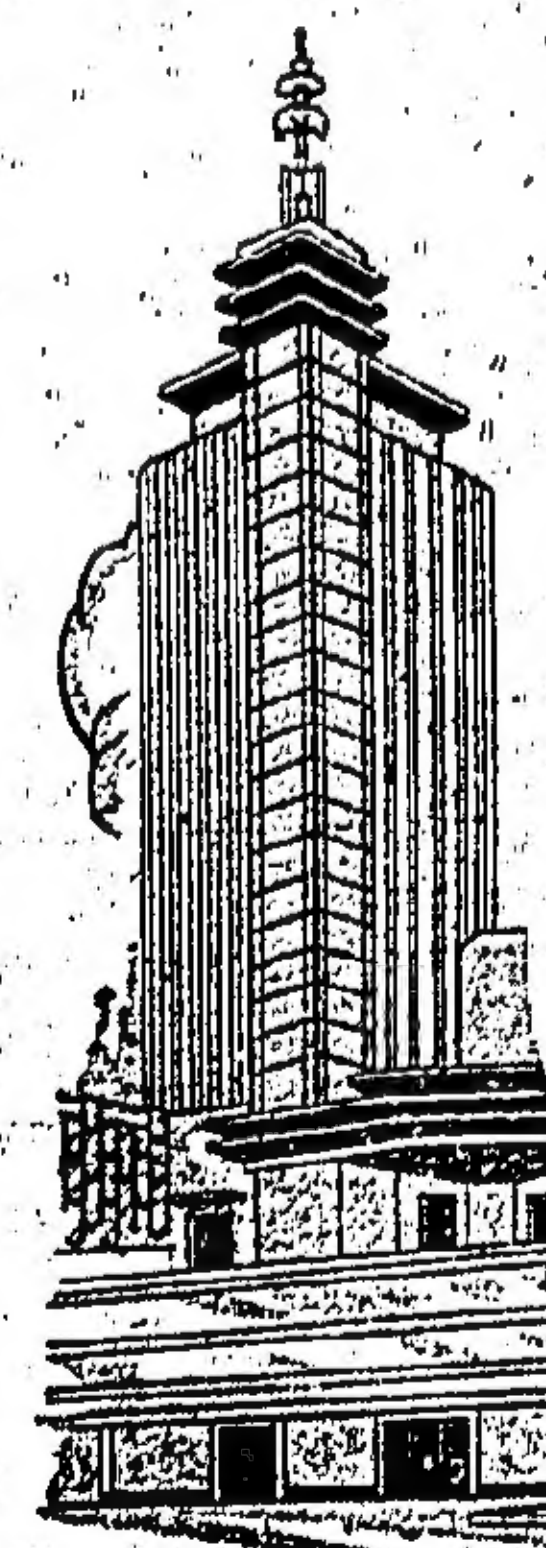

The ex-President has been kept informed of all developments in Cuba since the Sunday he fled from his palace and escaped to Nassau in aeroplane. He did not comment on the announcement to-day that his successor, President Carlos de Cespedes, had formed a super-cabinet similar to that in Washington in an effort to bring Cuba out of the depression.—United Press.

Gloria Swanson and her mate seems that Michael Farmer, who had a small part in "A Perfect

almighty visit, perhaps to continue his movie career. Gloria was not so keen on the trip however. It is reported the first thing that

WOMEN WHO PLAY

Starring Beinta Hume
and Joan Barry.

AT THE QUEEN'S THEATRE

This is a Paramount British production from the play "Spring Cleaning" by Frederick Lonsdale
with Mary Newcomb, Beinta Hume, Joan Barry, Barry Jones
and George Barraud in the leading roles. It is a sparkling comedy of modern manners, with a daring plot. The story deals with the resolute means taken by Richard Sones (George Barraud) who is a successful novelist to save his wife,
from a set of worthless triflers,
who pose as her friends. Among these people who have too much money and nothing to do there is a rather attractive philanderer,
who starts a flirtation with Sones'
wife. After a vain appeal to Margaret to give up associating with these people, he persuades Mona (Mary Newcomb) an actress whose work he admires, to pose as a woman of the streets, and then introduces her as a guest at his wife's dinner party. This action has the desired effect, there is some bitter quarrelling, and hard lessons are learned on both sides.
Before the final happy reconciliation. It is an excellent picture handled by a clever cast.

See these two stars in "Women
Who Play" The Paramount British Production.

CHARLIE'S NEW COMPANION

Has He Found Another Romance?

Has Charlie Chaplin—Hollywood's sad little man, gray haired, gray-suited, and with a certain grayness of soul showing in his eyes—found romance again? This is the question that is agitating
the film colony at Hollywood.

His constant companion these days is Paulette Goddard in all his public appearances. And Hollywood wonders and watches!

I saw them together at the Speakeasy Club the other night.
writes a correspondent to an F.M.
S. paper.

Their talk was spasmodic but a great understanding, a vast quietness and sympathy, seemed to exist between them. The band struck up—and the sad little man quietly rose to his feet. His lady gravely rises also, they eye each other a moment as if they were absolute strangers and then they commence to dance.

Dancing to Patterns

It is something between a rhumba and a tango. Something precise, cautious, Latin in gesture
but anything but Latin in lack of extravagance. It has the exact-ness of a geometrical problem, this dance, in which one foot moves
an inch or so, and the partner's foot moves with it. A second's hesitation meets with instant retribution on the part of the Goddard.

They move as one, gravely, monotonously around the floor. Nobody of the civilian crowd seems to recognize them. Of the professionals an occasional "Hello old man" or "Hi Paul" is tossed their way. They answer during the dance with almost imperceptible
motions of eyelid or lip.

Their strange gravity is not disturbed. The ritual goes on, solemn, slow almost cautious. The dance comes to an end. So does the evening.

The lady wraps her white velvet
cape with slathers of silver fox
fur around her revealing slenderness and makes for the door.

The sad little man in gray fumbles a moment in his pockets. He looks about as if bewildered. He thinks a moment, rises, stands completely lost by his table—ruminating. Then he turns about slowly as if he were on a little turn-table, still sad eyed,
lost; then he follows his lady from
the room.

Bicycling is still the fad in Hollywood so is said, and that they will soon need policemen to handle the "wheel traffic" if it gets any heavier. Almost every star has her own bicycle now. Joan Crawford admits her little red bike
is responsible for her sick figure.
This is a splendid way to keep slim.

"CAVALCADE"

Gala Opening To-night

DIANA WYNYARD AND CLIVE BROOK

The long-awaited Fox Film production, "Cavalcade," starring Clive Brook and Diana Wynyard, makes its local bow at the King's Theatre to-night, and elaborate arrangements have been made for the premiere—the first of its kind to be staged in Hong Kong. For the opening performance, the Theatre have issued invitations to over a hundred of the Colony's leading residents, who will be the official guests, and after the performance, a supper will be held in the Hong Kong Hotel where special arrangements have been made for dancing to be continued until 2 a.m.

It would be interesting to note that the King's Restaurant are having a special "Cavalcade" dinner when free H. B. Beer will be supplied.

Regarding the picture itself,
"Cavalcade" has been hailed as the outstanding screen hit of recent years, and the featured roles
are in the capable hands of Diana Wynyard and Clive Brook, with Ursula Jeans, Herbert Mundin,
Irene O'Connor, Frank Lawton,
Irene Browne, Merle Tottenham
and Beryl Mercer in the featured supporting parts.

"Cavalcade" which ran for a year at Drury Lane, as a play, attracted more attention than any drama produced in England in a generation. More than a million people stormed the theatre to see it during its run and it is expected that the screen audience will far exceed this number.

The film is a story of how world events affect the home and the family and covers the period from 1900 to the present day. The absorbing story is etched against a vivid background of historical happenings during that time.

Diana Wynyard, the brilliant young actress, gives some of the best acting of her career, and when one recalls her success in
"The Devil Passes" and "Rasputin," one may know what to expect when it is said that in "Cavalcade" she far surpasses all her previous performances.

So far as Clive Brook is concerned, it is enough to say that he gave the best performance of his career—a career crowned with many successes.

Bookings for the opening performance are very heavy and when the picture is eventually put on the usual run, it is expected that demand for seats will be even heavier.

JUNIOR DURKIN and JUNIOR COGLIN in "HELL'S HOUSE"

HOLLYWOOD HIGH LIGHTS

Ann Dvorak and her husband
Leslie Fenton are back on the lot at Hollywood after almost a year's vacation abroad. Ann walked out on Warner Bros. just when she was at the peak of her success, because the studio refused to give her the salary she wanted. Everything seems to be patched up with the studio and we shall soon
see her in a Warner Bros. production.

Marlene Dietrich started the pants craze to be comfy, and now we are told she is laced up in stays in her role in "Song of Songs" that she can't sit down between scenes. It is also reported

"HELL'S HOUSE"

Central Theatre

This story is convincing in theme, strong in cast combined with splendid production, therefore should not be missed if you like something different in films. Howard Higgins has handled this story intelligently with plenty of heart interest. It tells the story of a young boy who goes to the dogs—because he worships the wrong kind of man. The hero in this picture happens to be a youngster of 14 who loses his parents and goes to live with his relatives. His Uncle is thrown out of work, and the man is almost desperate. There is a boarder in the house a Mr. Kelly, and this particular person is responsible for the down-fall of the boy. He helps Kelly in the business as he terms the liquor traffic, and this leads to untold trouble for Shorty.
His death however is the means by which other boys in similar circumstances are saved. The leads are played by Junior Coghlin and Bette Davis, supported by a large cast.

This is playing at the Central on the 13th.

"THE WHITE SISTER"

To Be Shown At The Queen's

This beautiful and tragic romance bears all the charm and poignancy of the silent version.
The performance of Clark Gable and Helen Hayes are equally as sensitive and fine as those of Lillian Gish and Ronald Colman. (In the silent picture). It is the story of a man and woman deeply in love. The man goes to war and word comes back that he has been killed. The girl becomes a nun and the man returns only to learn that the bonds of religion are stronger than her love for him. Helen Hayes and Clark Gable were never better. Lewis Stone, Louise Closser Hale, and May Robson also contribute splendid performances.

The Stranger's Return
This is one of those close,
intimate studies of ordinary lives that King Vidor can do magnificently, and it is not just the farm sounds off screen, and
the realistic chores of cooking,
churning, dish-washing that bring his Middle West homestead to life.
He knows how people act towards
one another under ordinary conditions as well as in heightened emotion, and he knows—which is rarer
—the pace to play that action. The scene of the resisters' supper should go down into history with his river
scene from "Bardelys The Magnificent" as a superb example of technical timing—working ravenously
up to its climax of repulsion, and resolved on a gluttonous laugh. The playing, and direction of the playing, is so good that you feel the seductive swing of Miriam Hopkins's body, at a moment when her senses should have been dormant,
as a kind of savage shock. There are not many films in which one false movement becomes remarkable,
and the few that there are, are worth a considerable effort to see.

My Lips Betray
Lillian Harvey's first film
in America was originally titled "His Majesty's Car," and the change of title seems rather unnecessarily unkind. The present Lillian Harvey is no different from the German star from Muswell Hill who collected bouquets all over Europe; she does her old stuff just as well as ever. But for once in their history the American technical experts have slipped up over the exploitation of a star. The cameraman, Lee Garmes, who knows just what to do with the lighting of a staircase and can make the stream-
lines of a motionless car exciting, has not been able to isolate the charms of the Harvey face, while the sound-crew have been peculiarly unselective. The film itself is modelled closely on German musical comedy lines, and presents the escapades of a café singer who is quite innocently taken to be the king's mistress. The situation is ingenious and the treatment light-handed;
only it seems a little odd to show Lillian Harvey doing badly all the things that for years past she has proved she can do so well.

Mama Loves Papa
This rather unengaging title
conceals a comedy of earnest suburbany that is quite first-class entertainment for most of its length. Mama and Papa are middle-aged and kindly and happy
in their ineffectualities; Papa panders to Mama's yen for culture, and Mama still laughs admiringly at Papa's little jokes. All goes well with them and the film until they take a header into high society; then fun and observation go to the wall.
Luckily, the society sequences are short, and the laughs many and long. Try it.

KING'S THEATRE

This is a Gainsborough Picture, and judging from the cast it promises to be most amusing. Jessie Matthews posing as her own ingly clever acting. Some eminent critic describes this as a worthy successor to "There Goes The Bride" another very successful British production. There are some hilarious situations in this film, and we heartily recommend it.

The cast includes Ian Hunter, Fred Kerr, Margaret Yarde and
the ever popular Jessie Matthews.
This is to be shown at the King's Theatre on Thursday.

"KING OF THE JUNGLE"

BEASTS ATTACK A STAR!

Buster Crabbe, world-champion swimmer and newcomer to the movies and Mabel Stark, veteran animal trainer, both owe their present state of health and comfort to the nerve and courage of Bruce Humberstone, young Hollywood director.

Humberstone, co-director of "King of the Jungle," wild animal thriller
which opens at the Queen's Theatre on Friday risked his own life on two separate occasions to hold savage lions and tigers at bay after they had pounced on the swimmer
and the trainer with blood in their eyes.

When tigers with which she was working attacked Mabel Stark, feminine wild animal trainer, Humberstone grabbed a club and rushed into the melee. He managed to hold the tigers at bay for the precious seconds required to drag Miss Stark to safety.

A few days later, while still receiving congratulations for his display of courage and quick action, Humberstone again proved himself deserving of a hero's medal. This time it was Buster Crabbe, world-swimming champion enacting the role of the Lion Man in "King of the Jungle," who was the center of an attack.

It was Buster's first day before

"HELL'S HOUSE"

Strong Drama At Central Theatre

"Hell's House" a human symphony for all ages, the picture
now showing at the Central Theatre with Junior Durkin, Pat O'Brien, Bette Davis, Junior Cog-hlan, Emma Dunn, Charles Grape-win, Mary Elden and many other screen players.

It deals with a youngster with ideals and so, like every boy of about fourteen or fifteen, is highly flattered when a man who knows police-men and every big football
and baseball play, calls him pal,
why there isn't anything this kid
wouldn't do for him.

As a story "Hell's House" is natural and human. It could happen to any boy and does to many.
There are dramatic highlights
that bring a tear, but again there are situations that cause hearty laughter. There are problems that bother boys of this age and which provide laughs for the grown ups
who have troubles of greater propensity to cope with daily.

"Photoplay Magazine" accorded
it special mention and importance
by designating it as "one of the best pictures of the month."

Howard Higgin directed "Hell's House" for B. F. Zeldman Production. Paul Gangelin wrote the screen play.

the cameras and one of his first scenes with a herd of mighty lions.
Later the branny youth became accustomed to working with the beasts
and they became acquainted with him. But in this first meeting, one of the lions forgot he was acting and leaped at Crabbe, bearing him to the ground. Once more it was Humberstone who succeeded in beating off the brute, allowing Crabbe to escape with but minor lacerations.

"King of the Jungle" centres around the lion man, a youth raised in the jungle in the company of lions, who is captured and brought to America to perform in a circus.
The picture comes to a climax when fire breaks out in the circus, and the wild animals break loose from their cages to spread death and ruin in the city streets.

Diana Wynyard and Clive Brook portray the two characters in the Fox production of Noel Coward's "Cavalcade," around whom the march of world events patterns its drama.

"THE GREAT JASPER"

Central Theatre

Catchy Musical
Numbers

This is from the novel by Fulton
Oursler and an R.K.O. production.
Richard Dix plays the lead with Wera Engels and Edna May Oliver.
Critics claim this is even better than Mr. Dix's portrayal in "Cimarron" and a decided box office attraction. The "Great Jasper" is specially interesting and very amusing. Miss Oliver as Madame Talma is as usual grand.
All the characters in this picture
are true to life and exquisitely played by a cast of stars who handle their respective parts with intelligence. It is decidedly Dix's best role since "Cimarron" so do not miss this when it is shown at the Central Theatre commencing Saturday.

"THE GOOD COMPANIONS"

The Good Companions is a yarn of the rolling road. It is a panorama of the show business on tour. Every one who has read Priestley's novel knows it details
the experiences of three rebels.
Jess Oakford rebels against his life in a Yorkshire mill. When he gets the sack he seizes the opportunity to go south, to the places
he has read about and long to
see. Inigo, the teacher, rebels against teaching and the drudgery of his occupation. He loathes the headmaster and his nagging wife.
Miss Trant spends years nursing an invalid father, who eventually dies and she buys a car with the intention of seeing the country.
Twenty miles from Litchfield they come upon a party of stranded actress and actresses called the "Distressed Ladies." who change their names to the "Good Companions." The spirit of the novel is magnificently produced by Victor Saville with its

Central Theatre

Numbers

The only composer in Hollywood
who could write music to please
the Irish tenor, John McCormack,
has written all four of the songs
for the musical comedy, "It's Great To Be Alive," in which Fox Film presents Raul Roulien as an American screen star at the King's Theatre to-day.

The composer is William Kernell. When John McCormack was in Hollywood preparing for the filming of his picture, "Song O'
My Heart," a hundred well-known composers wrote and submitted songs. McCormack included only one of them in his picture, "A Pair of Blue Eyes," by Kernell.

Kernell, whose first screen song
was "Sally Of My Dreams," also wrote all the music Lillian Harvey
and John Boles sing in "My Lips Betray."

The four songs in "It's Great To Be Alive" are "Goodbye, Ladies," with 18 Hollywood beauties; "I'll Build A Nest," with Gloria Stuart;
"It's Great To Be The Only Man Alive," with 10 Beauties, and "Women! Women! Women!" with Herbert Mundin.

Incidentally, Roulien himself has composed more than 150 pieces including a tango, "Adios, Mis Farres," which in 70 days sold a million seven hundred thousand records and half a million copies of sheet music in South America.

story of understanding and mis-

ECHOES OF 1858

68.—Editorial Warfare Over Government Affairs

December 22, 1858.
Matters have gone too far in this Colony to admit of any qualified opinion on the part of a private individual or of any trimming advocacy on the part of a journalist. The strife which has rent the society of this place, does not arise out of a quarrel amongst thieves. If the case stood that Dr. Bridges lent his aid to the East Coast pirates and Mr. Anstey, to the West Coast rebels, then the community might leave them to settle their own differences, the best way they could. But the true posture of affairs is simply this: Mr. Anstey charges Mr. Caldwell of having habitually confederated with pirates, and Dr. Bridges of burning papers to screen him. If these parties be innocent then indeed is Mr. Anstey to be denounced as a nuisance and defamer—but if they be guilty, we maintain that the vigorous efforts he has used and is still using, entitled him to the thanks of every man calling himself an Englishman. This, however, is a very naked skeleton representing the truth of the case. Mr. Anstey has been superseded for his movements in the matter, and Dr. Bridges had been denounced as having perjured himself. Dr. Bridges's friends are attempting to patch matters up, and strong efforts are being made to obtain for him the office of Attorney General, which, by underhand and unworthy means he had Mr. Anstey deprived of.

Our contemporary of the Register has in a most marked manner denounced the conduct of Dr. Bridges, and indeed has made himself rather conspicuous for the very able style in which he did so. But something seems to have come over him, for in his last issue he clearly wants to make light of the present posture of affairs, which we maintain are of the most serious conceivable. For instance, our contemporary calls them "local quarrels" an talks of "the bitterness already too prevalent here." He designates Mr. Anstey as "a suspended agitator" and the whole tenor of his argument is to the effect that that gentleman has made a very large noise about a very small matter. The "large noise" we agree to, but it appears to us not to have been large enough—and if the matter be small we can hardly conceive a large one. Why, piracy and perjury are in the van of it! Again, he refers to the late libel of the China Mail as an "unintentional error," when it is undeniable it was a most premeditated, malignant, malicious, reiterated libel, aggravated by invitations to retract being treated with positive and low abuse.

Our contemporary is quite capable of forming a sound opinion, and has a clear right to act upon any opinion he pleases, but this is complete trimming. The current sets one way and the wind another—we fear our contemporary will trim his sails to the latter, and so buffet the stream of his own inclinations and convictions. He has hitherto succeeded in bringing himself into notice for his good judgment and independence—they were the secret of his success, and he may rely that should be well, a hireling's pen, his charm will be dispelled and his labour become a task. If he selected to keep out of the discussion, well—but having entered upon it in the marked manner he has done, he cannot take both sides unless he is making preparations to turn his coat.

FOUR ROBBERS SENTENCED

Sequel To Attack On Contractor

New to the robbery game, four Chinese who attacked a building contractor and a bricklayer at No. 23, Tai Wong Street, were arrested and brought before Mr. Schofield yesterday. Two men were sentenced to four months' hard labour and two others to two months each.

Sub-Inspector Nolloth said that the first complainant was awakened about 1.30 a.m. on September 10 by someone gripping his throat and pressing him down. The second complainant, who was asleep in the cockpit, was also similarly treated. Suddenly the man ran out of the floor, chased by the complainants. The first accused was arrested and taken to the police station, and following information given by him, the others were arrested.

Could Not Find Keys.
It appeared that the robbery had been planned by a cook, employed on the floor, who was not in custody. He was really the ring leader, and the four defendants were merely dupes.

The man were admitted into the house by the cook. They attempted to gag one of the complainants with first accused's jacket. They also had a number of strands of wire, but these were not used. No property was stolen.
Mr. Schofield after passing sentence remarked that the defendants had better be sent back to the country after serving their terms.

NEW GROUP CAPTAIN

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, Aug. 30.
Group Captain W. B. Callaway, A.F.C., who has been since August, 1930, on the Staff of the Deputy Directorate of Staff Duties, was promoted to his present rank in the last midsummer list.

Group Captain Callaway was born in 1889 at Gillingham, Kent, and entered the Royal Navy as an assistant clerk in 1907, becoming assistant paymaster in 1910. During the War he served in the cruisers Cumberland and Challenger, in the Cameroons, and from 1915 was in the Hollyhock with Captain, now Rear-Admiral, L. G. Preston, commanding mine-sweepers. In 1916 he was appointed an acting Flight Lieutenant, R.N.A.S., and posted to Cranwell. At the fusion with the R.F.C. he became Captain (Seaplanes), and served at Calshot, Cattewater, and Newlyn. In 1919 he was graded S.O.2 (Air) and appointed to Coastal Area Headquarters, and later to the Cadet College. Early in 1922 he joined the School of Naval Command, and in 1928 took command of No. 480 Flight Coastal Area. He has attended a course at the symbol "us." During his naval service in the War Group Captain Callaway was an acting interpreter in German. He also assisted in the preparation of the R.A.F. section of the Imperial War Museum, for which the Air Council expressed their appreciation.

ROYAL NAVY

COMMAND OF THE VALIANT

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, Aug. 30.
Captain B. C. Watson, D.S.O., who returned home a month ago in command of the cruiser Curlew from the Mediterranean, is to assume command from to-day of the Valiant, in the 2nd Battle Squadron, Home Fleet, in succession to Captain W. G. C. Maxwell, C.M.G. The Valiant is at present giving leave at the Nore.

Captain Watson was the navigator of Admiral Tyrwhitt's flagships in the Harwich Force during the War—the Arethusa, Centaur, and Curacao. He first went to sea over 30 years ago as midshipman of the Majestic, then flagship of Vice-Admiral Lord Charles Beresford in the Channel Fleet. Since the War he has served in the Plans Division of the Naval Staff, has commanded H.M.S. Hollyhock in China, has been Captain (D) of the 4th Flotilla in the Mediterranean, and has served on the staff of the War College.

YANGTZE COMMAND
CHANGE

The flag of Rear-Admiral F. G. G. Chilton, whose selection to be Rear-Admiral and Senior Naval Officer, Yangtze, was announced in "The Times" on May 6, will be hoisted in H.M.S. President, flagship of the London Division of the R.N.V.R. this morning. This is in accordance with custom to signify Rear-Admiral Chilton's return to full-pay service. The flag will be struck at sunset.

Rear-Admiral Chilton will leave England about September 15 and arrive at Shanghai about October 3, to relieve Rear-Admiral R. A. S. Hill C.B., C.B.E., on board H.M.S. Bee. Lieutenant A. D. H. Jay, late of the cadets' training cruiser Frobenius, and formerly of the Coventry, Mediterranean destroyer flagship, will be his flag lieutenant. He entered Osborne in May, 1918, and went to sea in September, 1922, as midshipman of the Barham. In passing for the Barham in 1928 he took four "firsts."

Paymaster Lieutenant-Commander E. W. James, who will be Secretary to the Rear-Admiral, comes from the R.N. Barracks, Chatham. In 1929-31 he was Secretary to the Commander-in-Chief at the Cape. Vice-Admiral R. M. Burmester. During the War he served as Secretary's Clerk on the staff of Commander Aubrey Smith, Commanding on the East Coast of South America, in H.M.S. Newcastle.

MERCHANT SHIP
SIGNALLING

Extracts published in Fleet Orders from the quarterly return of signalling between H.M. ships and British merchant vessels for the period ended March 31, 1933, show a total of 1,513 successful exercises, as compared with 1,375 for the previous quarter. There were 13 failures to establish communication. The table of individual ships in order of merit shows that the sloop Penzance, of which Commander A. R. Farquhar, D.S.C., was then in command, came first with a total of 185 successful exercises. The 8th Destroyer Flotilla and 4th Submarine Flotilla, China, were second and third with 119 and 82 respectively, and then came the cruisers Devonshire and Dorsetshire, with 59 and 54 respectively. A table is also given on the mercantile side, which is not to be taken as a statement of comparative signal efficiency as between different companies, as the opportunities for signalling are so varied. Vessels of the British Tanker Company had 188 successful exercises; those of the P. and O. Company, 115; Ellerman Lines, 72; British India Company, 68; and the Ocean Steamship Company, 64. Among exercises deemed to be worthy of special mention was one between the cruiser Victrola and the s.s. Nevada, of the B.I.S.N. Company, which vessel "appeared to be employing naval ratings."

APPOINTMENTS

The following appointments were made by the Admiralty on Saturday:—

Commr.—V. C. Dorman-Smith, to Dolphin (Sept. 25), and to Thames, in command (Oct. 13).

Lieut.-Commr.—W. R. Bull, to Calcutta (on commg. for trials).

Lt.-Cmdr.—T. F. A. Voysey, to Osprey, Aug. 28; E. H. Mann, to James Ludford, Sept. 1; and W. J. A. Willis, to Pembroke, Sept. 15.

Lts.—I. M. Carras, to Osprey, Aug. 25; and T. A. Turner, to Gwage.

Payr. Omdr.—H. L. Jackson, C.B.E., to Barham, Sept. 1.

THE TYPHOON PASSES Big Increase To The Colony's Water Supply NO SERIOUS DAMAGE DONE

Yesterday morning No. 7 typhoon signal was up, the wind was blowing a gale and heavy showers fell. During the morning, however, the signal was lowered, but rain continued off and on.

Contrary to all rules and regulations, the typhoon which suddenly and unexpectedly threatened, the Colony brought in its wake not damage, but relief to Hong Kong, in the shape of a much-needed replenishment to our reservoirs. The total rainfall from 4 p.m. on Monday up till 1 p.m. yesterday was recorded at 5.15 inches.

The Colony's water supply benefited to such an extent that it was officially announced yesterday afternoon that as from to-day, Kowloon residents will enjoy the privilege of a constant water supply. It was also stated that if the heavy rains that we have had during the greater part of yesterday morning continue for a few more hours, the danger of a water shortage will be literally washed out.

The increase in the supply for the twenty-four hours ended at 6 a.m. yesterday was 114 million gallons, and with the catchwaters all bringing in a good supply, it is hoped that this figure will be considerably bigger by the time the rains are over.

The storage in the Island reservoirs at 6 a.m. yesterday, was 1,561,000,000 gallons as compared with 1,447,000,000 gallons at 6 a.m. on Monday. It is expected that a large amount will be added within the next few days.

The total capacity of the Island reservoirs is 2,387,000,000 gallons, thus 826,000,000 gallons more were needed at 6 a.m. yesterday to fill them.

Good Rescue Work

Rainfall varied throughout the Colony. At the Royal Observatory, from midnight on Sunday until 10 a.m. this morning, a period of 34 hours, the fall registered was 5.11 inches.

The weather as expected moderated in the course of the day, though rain is likely to continue. Fairly angry seas were experienced on Monday afternoon and evening along the south coast of the Colony and a junk was wrecked in the vicinity of Cape D'Aguilar and the staff of the wireless station did excellent work in contributing to the rescue of the entire crew.

The Kausing

The rescue-boat Kausing spent the greater part of Monday cruising the harbour and she was out again yesterday under the command of Captain Lowe, assisted by Mr. Wyatt. A report from the craft has been received stating that her assistance has not been required.

We feel happy to be able to state that no report of any serious damage has been received by any of the Police Stations, and apart from the fact that there were some minor landslides, there was nothing to show that the Colony had been closely threatened by a blow.

It was announced on Monday evening that Robinson Road was closed to traffic but we later learnt that this was by way of precaution.

Over in Kowloon, the K.C.C. ground was partly under water, but Happy Valley was not, as usual, flooded. The rain certainly came at a very opportune moment for the grounds were badly in need of some water to prepare them for the coming football, cricket and racing seasons.

Another good thing the heavy rainfall did was to act as a deterrent to crime, as it was stated in Central Magistracy yesterday that there was not a single case of larceny in the Court list.

THE OFFICIAL REPORT

There were faint indications of the formation of a typhoon between Pratas and the Balintang Channel on the afternoon of Sunday. The receipt of the Pratas observations at 6 a.m. on Monday established its existence beyond doubt, about 50 miles west of Pratas. It did not appear to be of great intensity and this was confirmed in the course of yesterday, for although the barometer fell steadily until 5 p.m., at no time was sustained gale force reached by the wind, although many squalls between 50 and 60 miles per hour occurred. The highest wind velocity was 63 m.p.h. at 5.20 p.m. yesterday. It was at this time that the typhoon was nearest to the Colony i.e. about 80 miles S by W. It is significant that the barometer has been practically steady in Hong Kong since 7 p.m. yesterday, and that the sustained force of the wind has considerably increased, indicating that the typhoon has increased considerably in intensity. It is now situated about 120 miles SW of the Colony moving W or WNW. The total rainfall from midnight on Sunday to 10.40 a.m. this morning was 5.11 in.

A NOVEL EXPERIENCE

Stainforth's Narrow Escape

London, Sept. 11.—Flight-Lieutenant Stainforth, the famous Schneider Trophy pilot, had an unparalleled experience while testing out a secret new machine over Kent.

He got into difficulties in the air, leaped from the cockpit and was then thrown back into the rear cockpit.

It appears that Lieutenant Stainforth was testing the new machine's climbing ability and manoeuvring qualities.

He took her up to a height of about fourteen thousand feet and then put the machine into a spin and fell for seven thousand feet.

Machine Crashes. When he found himself unable to right the machine, he jumped out, but was hurled back into the rear cockpit. Stunned for the moment, he recovered himself in time, struggled out, jumped once more and landed unhurt.

The machine crashed two miles away.

Two years ago, Flight Lieutenant Stainforth was able to claim that he had travelled faster than anyone else in the world. After Flight Lieutenant Stainforth had won the Schneider Trophy with a record average speed of 340 m.p.h., he set a world speed record of 408 miles an hour, after doing an unofficial lap of 418 miles at Dover.—Reuter.

CHINESE FACES SERIOUS CHARGE

Magistrate Insists On Committal

Charged with having thrown corrosive fluid on a woman, a Chinese marine store collector, was brought before Mr. Schofield yesterday.

Sergeant Davies asked for 48 hours remand. He said he had been instructed not to ask for committal. (Continued on previous column.)

HAUL OF HEROIN PILLS

Chinese Fined $1,000

"We don't get the principals once in a hundred times. It is no fault of ours. We get the person in charge of the place," remarked Revenue Officer A. W. Grimmitt at Central Magistracy yesterday when he prosecuted a Chinese named Mak Kwok Leung for the illegal possession of 7,000 pills of heroin. Defendant was represented by Mr. Hin Shing Lo.

Outlining the case, Mr. Grimmitt said that on information received a raid was conducted on the first floor of No. 1 Hing Lung Street on August 30 by a party of revenue officers led by Chief Preventive Officer Buller. The door of the place was locked and was opened by the defendant after the search-party had knocked on it a few times. When the party got into the floor they found that defendant was sole occupant. Mr. Buller asked the defendant who was the master of the floor and he gave Mak Yee as the name. He said that he was in charge of the place during his master's absence.

The Search. A search was then made. In the front cubicle there was a desk behind the drawers in which were cavities containing two tins of heroin pills. In the other room three more boxes of pills were discovered in the window-ledge. In a bed in the rear cubicle was a black box holding drugs and other ingredients and implements for the making of heroin pills, including strychnine. Scales, a ladle, a mixing vessel, a press, grinders, and other paraphernalia were also discovered in the middle cubicle.

C.P.O. Buller gave evidence of the search and corroborated R.O. Grimmitt's statements. He said that the black box was locked and was forced open by the search-party.

Mr. Lo: When the search was being carried on the defendant made no attempt to run away? He gave no trouble?—No, he simply stood there, neither assisting nor interfering with the officers.

Mr. Wat Pak Yue, interpreter at the Import, Export Office, gave evidence in corroboration of C.P.O. Buller.

R.O. Grimmitt then submitted that all the facts of the case showed that the defendant had access to the stuff but Mr. Lo disagreed.

The Defence. Mr. Lo said he admitted physical possession of the pills in that in his client's view they were found on the premises. "I only go so far as to say that he was there physically. Whether he was in physical occupation of the floor or not I leave to Your Worship to decide. I think the fairest way of putting it would be that he was caretaker of the floor where the pills were found."

Mr. Lo then quoted certain Sections of the Dangerous Drugs Act and other Ordinances in support of his contention that because the pills were found in the floor of which his client was in charge it did not prove he had any knowledge of them. He submitted that the prosecution had to prove more than it had. "Otherwise," he said, "Your Worship is asked to draw the big inference that he knew what was on the floor. I submit that unless the prosecution proved more than it has proved my client should be discharged. There are two possible explanations in this case: either that my client had been told to look after the place and knew full well what was going on, or he knew nothing about it."

Mr. Lo went on to say that it was nothing unusual for a gang to hire a man of no great intelligence and make a dupe of him by getting him to look after the place where such illicit stuff was kept, without knowing what was there. He suggested that it was rather harsh for such a tool to be punished when the principals got off and in this case the expensive nature of the paraphernalia showed that the place was run by an organised gang.

Mr. Grimmitt: We don't get the principals once in a hundred times. It is no fault of ours. We get the person in charge of the place.

In concluding his address, Mr. Lo submitted that the essence of the element of control of the place had not been proved against his client and he should be discharged but if His Worship did not agree with him he would put his man in the box.

Defendant's Evidence. Defendant accordingly went into the box. He said that he had gone to the house on August 18, having been engaged by a man named Mak, who had later gone to Shanghai. He had never seen any work of manufacturing pills going on in the place.

He never saw any of the articles raided till after the search. When his master engaged him he had told him that he was an exporter, but beyond telling him that he was in charge of the place, he knew nothing about it.

Mr. Lo then submitted that the essence of the element of control of the place had not been proved against his client and he should be discharged but if His Worship did not agree with him he would put his man in the box.

THE LAW OF ADOPTION

Chinese Fined At Magistracy

Mr. W. Schofield imposed a fine of $100 on So Tek Shui, a building contractor, who was charged, together with Ho Chat, a married woman, with taking part in a transaction for the sale of a girl aged 11. The woman defendant, who is the girl's mother, was bound over in $200 to be of good behaviour for one year.

Mr. F. X. D'Almada (jun.) appeared for the first defendant, and asked that a lenient view be taken. He admitted the facts, but said that it was a case of adoption according to Chinese custom.

Inspector Fraser's Evidence. Sub-Inspector H. W. Fraser, of the S.C.A., said that on September 7 the second accused reported at the S.C.A. that her daughter, whom she had presented to the first accused because she was in poor circumstances, was not being well-treated, and she wished to have her back.

The mother had got into touch with two women with regard to the sale of the child. These women introduced So Tek Shui, who bought the child for $100, paying in three instalments. The two women received $5 each from the mother. The first accused had a family of three sons and two daughters, and wanted the little girl to look after his younger children. The girl had been well treated, though she had been in ill-health recently and had not taken much food for a month. She was now in the Tung Wah Hospital suffering from fever.

Mr. D'Almada said the parties had gone to the S.C.A., and accused had been given a document, but had lost it. The girl had been well treated, and in every way his client bore a good character. It was a Chinese custom to adopt children, and in view of the circumstances he asked that his client be discharged with a caution.

Mr. Schofield: Am I correct in supposing that the S.C.A. considers adoption proper where parties are related?

Sub-Inspector Fraser: Yes. That is so.

Mr. Schofield: Unless some dividing line is taken I don't see how you can ever prove that anybody in China is ever sold.

Mr. D'Almada: If you give me time, I can prove that some Chinese do adopt unrelated children. This case of adoption is not for the purpose of a mulct, and that is where the distinction lies. Unfortunately the defendant has lost the document, and therefore there is a doubt. But I ask you to give the benefit of the doubt.

Mr. Schofield: I cannot agree with your contention that adoption is genuine in the case where parties are related. It is possible for acquaintances to adopt between themselves, whether the parties are related or not. The selling of children has in recent years come into disfavour, and though there have not been many prosecutions recently, there may be many in future. In the case of the first defendant I have to consider the deterrent factor to others, and, therefore, I am going to find them. The penalty mentioned was then imposed.

AN ECONOMIC COMMISSION

Nanking, Sept. 12.—In accordance with a decision reached at the Kuling Conference, all economic schemes will hereafter be examined and approved by a national economic commission before they are carried into effect, stated Mr. Chin Fen, chairman of the preparatory committee.

Mr. Chin added, however, that the commission was primarily intended to be a planning organ, and would not assume executive functions. He expected the commission to be formally inaugurated within a month, after which it would be placed under the direction of the standing committee of three, composed of Mr. Wang Ching-wei, Mr. Sun Fo and Mr. T. V. Soong, who would be directly responsible to the National Government instead of the Executive Yuan.

The commission will organise a secretariat and economic survey department, and will later take charge of first-hand surveys, and statistical work preparatory to the formulation of projects.—Reuter.

To keep the place clean, had not told him what his work was.

R.O. Grimmitt: You said that you worked given days before your master went to Shanghai—what did you do? There was no work done.

No work done?—Well, I swept up the place which I had dirtied with cigarette ends.

Mr. Schofield: That was what you were engaged for?

Continuing, His Worship said he had to admit that defendant was not the principal offender, but he did not agree that he was innocent.

In imposing a fine of $1,000 or five months' hard labour, His Worship remarked: "I can't say I believe his evidence—some of it is practically incredible."

WHY NOT RAIN BATHS

[TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONG KONG DAILY PRESS."]

Dear Sir,—Not being a selfish fellow, I am writing to tell you and your readers how I got a bath this morning during "prohibited hours" so that other long suffering individuals who cannot (or will not) get up before 9 a.m. may still have a wash.

I got up at exactly 9.10 a.m. this morning and what could have been a ruder awakening than the realization that the water had been turned off. Looking out of the window, I saw the rain coming down good and hard and—why not?

I slipped into my rain coat (that was all) went up to the roof complete with a cake of soap, and there I had one of the coolest showers imaginable.

D'you know, the great thing about these rain baths is that one does not have to bother about turning the shower on and off, but here let me sound a note of warning. Please make sure that there are no people on the other roofs before starting to have such a bath otherwise they may make the pardonable mistake that you are starting a nudist society, and then perhaps you will be inundated with applications for membership.

By the way, I think that if the authorities will turn off the water, they should supply us with portable shower baths. Then the sense of propriety will perhaps not be offended.

Yours etc.,
Clean Arain.

DISEASE AMONG POULTRY

[TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONG KONG DAILY PRESS."]

In the district I reside in thousands of fowls and ducks are dying from some curious disease. Symptoms begin by stopping to feed and wanting an unusual quantity of water. Then in a couple of days excrement of an almost pure white nature is discharged, the birds becoming quickly weaker and on the third day they die, very emaciated and giving a very disagreeable odour. Can any of your readers state what this disease is and whether there is any prevention and remedy.

Your's faithfully,
PAAK HOK TUNG.

MAN SUCCUMBS TO TEMPTATION

Bound Over & Fined
For Theft

A fine of $50 was imposed on Li Wal, managing partner of a medicine shop, who pleaded guilty, through Mr. C. Y. Kwan, yesterday, to the theft of a gold wrist watch from the Luk Hot Tung Boarding House.

Defendant was also bound over with two sureties of $100 for twelve months.

The Magistrate: I notice that the watch has actually got a name engraved on the back, but not the name of the complainant.

It appears that the complainant resided at the Luk Hot Tung Boarding House and at 11.30 on Sunday night went to the bathroom for a bath. He took off his wrist watch and had occasion to return to his room. On going back to the bathroom he found his watch missing. An amah stated she saw the defendant going into the bathroom. Police were called in and a search of the defendant's goods in his cubicle revealed the watch.

Addressing the Bench, Mr. Kwan said on the night in question his client went out with a friend and had some drinks. His mind was not clear and the incident occurred in the early hours of the morning. He had no intention of stealing, and he produced the watch during the police search of his goods.

Tin King Sang, manager of the Tin Sang Hong, and Li Ki, managing proprietor of an embroidery firm in Wellington Street, both testified to the defendant's good character, and expressed their willingness to act as sureties.

mittal. Mr. Schofield: I think it is better to have a committal. I don't like dealing with such cases myself.

Sergeant Davies: I will approach the Assistant Director of the Criminal Investigation Department with a view to committal.

Mr. Schofield: I have no power to take such cases myself, because the penalty is life sentence.

The application for the remand was granted, and defendant placed in police custody.

HONG KONG, SEPTEMBER 13, 1933.

THE NEW MINISTER TO CHINA

The appointment of the Hon. Alexander Cadogan as Minister to China when Sir Miles Lampson's term of office expires at the end of the year is an eminently satisfactory. The post is as arduous and difficult as any in the Diplomatic Service, and as far removed from the peaceful dignity of the majority of Legations as the Lord Lieutenant of the Tower from a Command on the North West Frontier or the Sudan Border. From the time when Lord Macartney made his historic visit to the Emperor Kien Lung the work of British Diplomatic representative in China has called for the highest qualities of character and statesmanship. For one thing the Chinese are themselves consummate diplomats, and have small respect for any member of a legation staff who is not a master of the difficult and well-formulated technique. China is recasting her whole life, and with it her relations with foreign powers. The mould in which these relations are to be cast is now being fashioned, and the task of shaping it to the needs and wishes of both peoples lies to no small degree in the hands of the British Minister. Every nation in a state of change and reconstruction is instinctively suspicious of foreign powers, and it cannot be denied that China's Foreign Ministry has good cause to go cautiously and weigh carefully the policies and interests as well as the expressions of friendly sentiments of nations with a stake in the Far East.

The post of Minister calls for knowledge of affairs and understanding of human nature. Mr. Cadogan has had a distinguished diplomatic career and has been particularly successful as head of the League of Nations section of the Foreign Office. He is well-known at Geneva and a personal friend of Dr. Yen, Dr. Alfred Sze. These are good qualifications for a vitally important post, and British residents of the Far East will be relieved that nothing in the nature of an experimental appointment has been made. The name of Sir Cecil Clementi has frequently been mentioned in this connection, mainly on account of his familiarity with the Chinese language and classics. Sir Cecil is doing far too good work in Malaya for the Colonial Office to be at all willing to release him. On the other hand, the strong and wise political action that he took early in his administration is not a qualification for the Peiping Legation. Colonial Service is one thing and diplomacy another. Success in one sphere is no guarantee of success in a totally different kind of work, and while a capable man will often settle down in strange surroundings, experience and training have their value. British diplomacy has nothing to fear in comparison with that of other nations, and it is significant that all European powers have a similar service based on life-long experience. If America can afford to work on different lines Great Britain cannot.

In the Far East, in China and Japan, a deep responsibility rests on the staffs of embassy and legation in watching the trend of events and giving the Foreign Office accurate and reliable information. Where opinions vary widely, and public life is strangely complex, this is an exacting task calling for powers of observation, analysis of evidence, and grasp of conditions. It is, in fact, difficult to see why the diplomatic representation in China is not raised to the status of an Embassy and given a corresponding increase of personnel. Before Sino-Russian diplomatic relations were broken off, on account of the Communist rising in Canton, the Soviet won for themselves no small advantage by according that privilege. The matter is certainly one for the Foreign Office to decide, and there may be serious objections unrealised by the layman. The vexed question of a transfer of the Legation from Peiping to Nanking also demands attention.

It is impossible to conclude a comment on British diplomacy in the Far East without a tribute to Sir Miles Lampson. Anglo-Chinese relations have been put on a new footing since Sir Miles came to China. A transition period has been inevitable since his arrival, but the smoothness

FRENCH AIR MISSION

Leaves Paris For Moscow

Paris, Sept. 11.
Led by the Air Minister, M. Pierrecot, an important French aerial mission starts for Moscow on September 12.

The mission, which is taking with it three of the most modern French planes, includes crack airmen like Codos and Rossi, who hold the non-stop long distance record.

Political observers attach great significance to the expedition, which follows closely upon an extensive tour of Russia by M. Herriot, who conferred with Soviet leaders.

It is thought that the movement indicates much closer relations between France and the Soviet in the future.—Reuter.

with which changes have been made, and the steady improvement of relations between the two Powers, during a time of the greatest strain and anxiety, are in no small degree attributable to the steadiness and good sense of the British Minister. Sir Miles has been transferred to a post where his powers of firmness and conciliation, combined with personal popularity, will be a great asset to all parties. His friends in China will wish him every success in his new sphere of work.

SHOEMAKERS STRIKE

Temporarily Settled At Canton

(From Our Special Correspondent, Canton, Sept. 12.)

THE strike of the workers in three local rubber factories as a protest against the refusal of their employers to render the usual "welfare" contributions of 45 cents for every hundred pairs of rubber shoes manufactured to the Mechanics Union is temporarily adjusted. By mediation of the Kwangtung Provincial Kuomintang, the dispute is referred to the Provincial Department of Interior for settlement.

Pending final settlement, the strikers have resumed work. The factories involved were Cheung Sheng, Ping On Fook and Fu Keung. It was agreed by both sides that contributions due up to the end of July will be collected by the Rubber Guild and retained by the Provincial Kuomintang for safe-keeping until eventual adjustment.

The "welfare" contributions are used for the education of the children of the rubber workers and the well-being of the workers themselves, but the employers are reluctant to pay on the plea of trade depression.

All government organs erecting new buildings or any construction works are ordered by the Kwangtung Provincial Government to use native cement produced at the plants in Sai Chuen and Honam. This is to promote home industries. If the government offices have to use imported cement, they must pay the usual "university education" tax.

This order is issued as a result of many petitions by government offices asking for exemption of this tax, which is to provide a sum for the support of the government universities in Canton.

New executive officials of the Canton Chamber of Commerce assumed their posts yesterday. The Chamber is now reorganised and as usual accepts direction by the Provincial Kuomintang.

REMAINS OF KING FEISAL

Taken On Board H.M.S. Despatch

London, Sept. 11.
WITH full military honours the body of the late King Feisal of Iraq was embarked in the British cruiser Despatch at Brindisi this afternoon for transport to Haifa.

It will be conveyed from Haifa to Baghdad in a Royal Air Force aeroplane.—British Wireless.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

The following cases of notifiable disease were reported last week: diphtheria 1 (1 fatality); enteric 3 (1 fatality); paratyphoid 1; meningitis 2. There were 46 deaths from Tuberculosis. One case of diphtheria and one of enteric were reported on Monday.

A party of University professors headed by Dr. Niichio Matsunami, sailed from Kobe on August 30 for Manchukuo in the Baikal Maru. They expect to stay there for about three weeks and will study the Japanese-Manchukuo economic bloc, educational system, and religious and social systems.

At Harbin the latest Japanese census taken by the local consular police shows a rapid increase in the Japanese population. The number at the end of July was 7422, compared with the figure for June, marks an increase of 365 persons. The increase since January of this year has been 1523 persons.

Business discussed at the fortnightly meeting of the Sanitary Board yesterday was purely of a routine nature. Mr. T. Megarry was in the chair, the other members present being the Hon. Mr. A. G. W. Tickle, Dr. G. W. Pope, Dr. Li Shu-fan, Messrs. Wong Kwong-yan, M. K. Lo, F. C. Hall, A. S. MacKichan, C. J. Roe (Secretary) and Ng Mei-kai (assistant secretary).

The engagement is announced of Lieutenant F. C. Graham, 93rd Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, son of Sir Frederick and Lady Graham, and Miss Phyllis Ann Cumming, of Shanghai. Sir Frederick Graham has been Conservative M.P. for North Cumberland since 1928. He is the fifth holder of the baronetcy. Lt. Graham was born in December, 1908. He was appointed Second Lieutenant in 1929, and Lieutenant three years later.

FIFTH NATIONAL CONGRESS

Still Question For Argument

(From Our Special Correspondent, Canton, Sept. 12.)

Remaining members of the South-west Political Council at its regular meeting to-day expressed dissatisfaction to the reply of General Chiang Kai Shek and Mr. Wang Ching Wei to the telegram of September 8 dispatched to them by Generals Chen Tsai Tong, Li Chung Jen and Tsai Ting Kai.

It was learned that Generals Chen Tsai Tong and Li Chung Jen in their capacity as members of the Kuomintang Central Executive Committee will make formal application to the standing committee of the C.E.C. suggesting that the calling of the Kuomintang Fifth National Congress at Nanking be countermanded.

Although the members of the standing committee of the C.E.C. are none other than General Chiang, Mr. Wang and some lesser lights, it is felt here that they will eventually cancel the Congress owing to the strong opposition from the South-west leaders, because important problems concerning the Party and the country were fully decided at the recent Kuling Conference.

Civilian leaders such as Messrs. Hsiao Fu Chen, Chow Lu, Teng Tse Ju, Hu Han Min and others are demanding to assemble a Congress here in case another Congress will be met at Nanking, but if the Nanking Congress is called off, these South-west leaders will cease their agitations.

In this event, Mr. Chow Lu will return here from Hong Kong, and Mr. Teng Tse Ju will come back from Kwangsi. Owing to Mr. Chow's absence in Hong Kong, many politicians here are aspiring to step into his position as president of the Sun Yat Sen University.

HURRICANE TOLL

London, Sept. 11.
THE Governor of Jamaica reports that the hurricane of August 30, caused serious damage in the outlying islands of Turks and Caicos. The Commissioner reports 15 lives lost, and 75 houses destroyed. Relief measures are being taken.—British Wireless.

In Johannesburg a crocodile has committed suicide. When the cold weather came the Zoo officials found that Jeanette, the favourite, became morose and restive. They covered her with blankets and applied hot water bottles. One bitterly cold night she crawled out, plunged into her 'ice-cold' swimming pool, and was found dead next day.

The Executive Yuan has given its sanction to the granting of $20,000 as "maintenance money" for the widow and children of the late Mr. Yang Chien, former associate-director of Academia Sinica and a noted Chinese scholar, who was assassinated by gunmen outside the front gate of the Academia on July 18 last. The request for the "maintenance money" for the late Mr. Yang's family was made by a number of government leaders, including Dr. Tsai Yuan-pei, Mr. Wu Tse-hui and Dr. Chu Chia-hua.

A Shanghai resident has received a letter from Mr. A. Edward Newton, the eminent American writer and book-collector, mentioning that he will visit Shanghai this autumn. Mr. Newton is the author of "Amenities of Book Collecting," "The Greatest Book in the World," "A Magnificent Farce," and "That Book-collecting Game," and others. His last book "A Tourist in Spite of Himself," which does not deal with book-collecting, has met with a very friendly reception by the reading public. Mr. Newton, who paid U.S. $56,000 for Shakespeare's first folio, claims that rare books were the only investments which have successfully borne the brunt of the recent depression.

CHINESE TINNED FOODS

Export Figures Improve

(From Our Special Correspondent, Canton, Sept. 12.)

Exports of Chinese tinned foods have improved in quality owing to the strict requirements of the Bureau of Inspecting and Testing of Commercial Commodities, stated Mr. Chen Tung Pah, chemical expert of the Bureau in an exclusive interview to-day with this correspondent.

Canton exports mostly tinned edibles, such as "Dragons' Eyes," Lee Chi, mushroom, oranges, cinnamon, and condensed milk, he said. Testing of these commercial commodities begun last August, and Mr. Chen found that at the beginning most of the tinned stuff was not prepared in a sanitary way and had to be rejected as exports.

Examination of tinned goods is aimed at improving the quality of Chinese products, this official said. "Many foreign colonies bar the import of Chinese tinned goods on the ground that they are not fit for consumption. This is true in some cases, so the Bureau will pass only those that are sanitariously prepared and suitable for foreign markets."

MORE FRIENDLY RELATIONS?

Between China And Manchukuo

Dairen, Sept. 12.
The South Manchuria Railway Co. announces a new plan for enlarging and raising the status of the Shanghai, Canton, and Peiping offices which, according to some reports here, will be raised to virtual embassies. This at least is taken as an indication that business relations with China have improved. It is also reported that the Dairen S.M.R. director, Mr. Sogo, has been invited by Chekaing capitalists and will leave for China shortly.—Reuter.

ITALIAN CRUISER EXPECTED

TWO DAYS VISIT

A British Naval Wireless message states that the Italian cruiser, Quarto, is due to arrive in port to-day (September 13), for a short visit of about 48 hours. This is her second visit this year, as she was here last April on her (Continued on previous column).

ULTIMATUM ISSUED TO CUBAN OFFICERS

TIME LIMIT OF TWENTY-FOUR HOURS

Apprehension Felt: Tense Situation Prevails

Havana, September 12. Dr. San Martin has sent an ultimatum to the officers in the National Hotel giving them thirty-six hours to come to terms with the Government.

Washington, September 12. Mr. Hull has formally declared the United States will welcome any Cuban Government "representing the will of the people and capable of maintaining order throughout the island."

REPORT OF SMUGGLED ARMS

Havana, Sept. 12. Havana is full of rumours of impending trouble. Interest being centred upon the National Hotel where Mr. Sumner Welles, the American Ambassador, and his family are staying.

All employees of the National Hotel have now walked out, leaving the guests including the U.S. Ambassador and about four hundred Cuban army officers, without service.

No reason has been given for the striking strike, but alarm is felt, and rumours are rife in the city in expectation of something serious happening.

The National Hotel is, incidentally, lying under the protection of the fourteen-inch guns of the American battleship, Mississippi, which is lying in harbour with nine hundred blue jackets and a company of Marines ready for any emergency.

A tense situation prevails and some apprehension is left.

Supplies Stopped. When wives and friends of the Cuban officers in the National Hotel started bringing food supplies, the soldiers on duty outside stopped further supplies to the officers inside, who are among those who left their commands when the latest revolution broke out.

As a result of this step by the soldiers, the officers issued a proclamation to the people of Cuba denying the rumours that they have been trying to provoke the United States to intervention.

Arms Smuggling. It is reported that scores of rifles and small arms together with ammunition have been smuggled into the National Hotel, concealed under the chassis of motor-cars.—Reuter.

BATTLESHIP PROTECTS AMERICANS

Havana, Sept. 11. The United States Ambassador and his family, together with a large number of other Americans, have been concentrated for safety at the National Hotel, covered by the fourteen-inch guns of the U.S.S. Mississippi, one of America's most modern battleships.

MOVE TOWARDS FASCISM

Austrian Chancellor's Speech

Vienna, Sept. 12. A VARIETY of constructions are being placed on a remarkable speech broadcast last night by the Austrian Chancellor, Dr. Engelbert Dollfuss, hinting at his future programme, but it seems fairly clear that a modified form of Fascism is contemplated.

While Dr. Dollfuss announced "the end of Parliamentary liberty," however, he refrained from mentioning Fascism.

Dealing with the need for the development of a settled social system, he advocated a corporate State on Italian lines, replacing employers' guilds and employees' trade unions, and it is anticipated that the next Parliament, if it ever reassembles, will be composed of Government nominees representing all walks of society.

"We repudiate terrorism, but we must govern with authority," declared Dr. Dollfuss in the course of a vitally important speech.

Despite the precariousness of Dr. Dollfuss's position, with Nazi pressure on the one hand and doubts about some of his colleagues on the other, it may safely be said that the majority of the Austrians will support opposition to violent penetration by the Nazis.

Hence his political opponents are compelled to refrain from open hostility.

To blend his supporters, Dr. Dollfuss has founded the "Fatherland Front" with a variant of the Swastika as the emblem.—Reuter.

NEW VICTORY TO THE NAZIS

Danzig National Party Liquidated

Danzig, Sept. 8. The German National Party of Danzig decided to-day to follow the example set by its sister group in the Reich, voluntarily to liquidate its organisation, according to an announcement made by the leader of the Danzig German National Party and former President of the Senate, Dr. Ziehm.

In a public statement he invites all party members to give the National Socialist Government their unstinted support, assuring them they would not be discriminated against on account of their former party affiliations.

After the disappearance of the German National Party from the political scene, the Clerical Center Party is now the only one remaining of the former bourgeois groups.

Some weeks ago Centrist functionaries were vehemently opposed to a dissolution, but it is believed they may change their opinion in view of the decision taken by the German Nationals, which leaves the Centrists in complete isolation.

Lord Snowden on Germany

London, Sept. 8. Lord Snowden writes concerning the German revolution that, if the revolutionary government gains confidence in its own stability and grants a suitable measure of freedom to all parties and classes, the world will follow its efforts at social and economic reconstruction with understanding, especially if Germany continues to adhere to her foreign policy as laid down by Chancellor Hitler in his last speech before the Reichstag.

These words are contained in the foreword written by the former Chancellor of the Exchequer to the book on the German revolution by the former Member of Parliament, Mr. Joseph King.

Lord Snowden says further that the extraordinary growth of National Socialism in Germany is little understood in Great Britain.

The injustice done to Germany by the peace treaties, the failure of the great Powers to carry out their obligations regarding disarmament, and finally the economic depression, had driven the German people to desperation and rendered it docile to the leader who expressed the nation's innermost feelings and who proposed a programme of relief.

Brussels, Sept. 8. The Catholic organ "Libre Belgique," which is generally considered to maintain close connections with the government, publishes to-day a statement which reads: "Since the assumption of power by Adolf Hitler, German-Belgian relations have greatly improved. The much-discussed border incidents have not been encouraged by the new German Government, but on the contrary, have almost entirely disappeared."

The paper attributes the improvement in German-Belgian relations to Premier de Broqueville's intervention in connection with the projected affixing of the inscription to the monument in honour of the men who perished in August 1914 at Dinan and which was to have read: "To the victims of Fury."

The paper says that such an inscription would have constituted a gesture which would have been extremely untimely at a moment when the relations between Belgium and Germany are on their way to normalcy.—Trans-Ocean Kuo Min.

THE VATICAN AND JEWS

German Action Criticised

Rome, Sept. 11. Roman Catholic displeasure regarding Germany's treatment of the Jews is revealed as the explanation for the doubts expressed by Berlin quarters on Friday regarding the ratification of the Concordat between Vatican and Germany.

The Secretary of State, Cardinal Pacelli, had a long conversation with the Pope before the Concordat was signed, but it has now been forwarded to Berlin.

Accompanying the ratification is a memorandum consisting of an injunction from the Vatican to Germany in which the main point stressed is that Jews must be treated with Christian charity.

Treatment of Roman Catholics is likewise mentioned as a matter worthy of the attention of the Reich.

It is believed that the rumour of a hitch over ratification arose from the fact that the Vatican wished the memorandum to form an annex to the Concordat.—Reuter.

Bodyguard Formed In England

Paris, Sept. 11. If a hair of Professor Einstein's head is touched, German hostages, marked down in Paris, would answer for it.

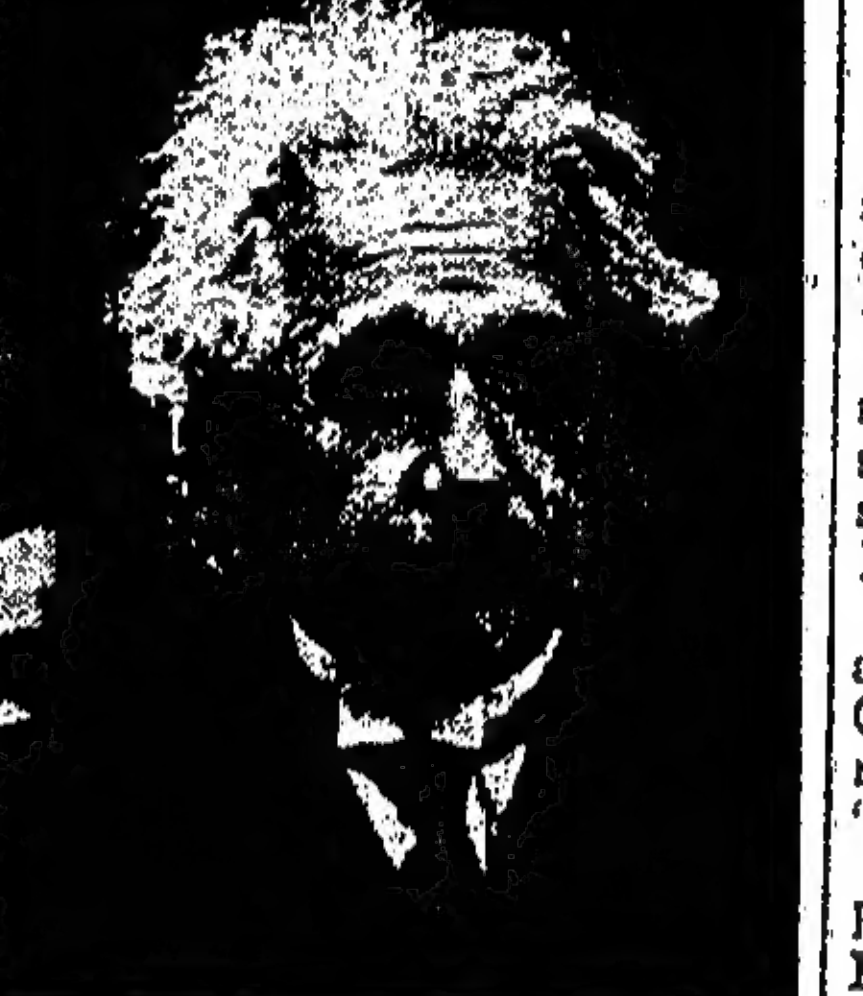

This threat was made to-night by M. Bernard Lecache, who presided over a crowded meeting at Salle Wagram, at which two French criminal lawyers made impassioned pleas for the defence of the accused in the Reichstag fire trial, which they were not allowed to make at Leipzig.

A clamour for names followed M. Lecache's dramatic declaration, but he refused.

Brawls outside the hall among people unable to gain entrance resulted in the detention of a score of people, including one Englishman.

A hundred Jewish science students in England are forming a voluntary bodyguard for Professor Einstein during his stay in England.

It will be recalled that a German secret society is alleged to be seeking Professor Einstein's life. It is alleged that he is the anonymous author of the "Brown Book."—Reuter.

Professor Einstein whose life is threatened by a German Secret Society.

GERMAN NO LONGER

Berlin, Aug. 30. Capt. Goering's organ, the National Zeitung, of Essen, gives the following inaugural list of persons who are to be deprived of German citizenship:

Prof. Einstein; Herr Grzesinski, former Police Prefect in Berlin, and his assistant, Herr Weiss; Herr Wels and Herr Breitscheid, Social Democrats; Herr Abegg and Herr Weismann, former Prussian Secretaries of State; and Herr George Bernhard, former Chief Editor of the "Vossische Zeitung."

Prof. Einstein some time ago reclaimed his Swiss citizenship.

LORD MELCHETT AND THE JEWS

London, Aug. 30. Lord Melchett, who reached Prague by air yesterday, will leave again on Monday for Vienna, where he will have a conversation with Chancellor Dollfuss.

Lord Melchett spoke to-day of Germany and the Jews.

"It is maintained in Germany," he said, "that I am an enemy of the German people. That is quite untrue. I have old and intimate relations with Germany. My ancestors came from that country. I am not an enemy of the German people, but I am a friend of the Jews."

"My standpoint concerning the anti-German boycott is very simple. There will be no more talk about boycotting if justice is given to the German Jews by the German Government."

The Harewoods Of Yorkshire: The Royal Train: Sir James Barrie's Residence: Testing London's Taxis: The "Fire Trial" Judge: Lewis Carroll's Memorial: A Centenarian

(Special Air-Mail Service)

THE EARL OF HAREWOOD

LONDON, Aug. 23. The Earl of Harewood, who is to entertain the King during his visit to Leeds, is the head of a family which has over six centuries' connection with Yorkshire.

Harewood House, which was built in 1730, to the design of John Carr, also the architect of Lytham Hall, is a grand example of the "early modern" English mansion.

Chippendale had a hand in the furnishing, and his bills are carefully preserved among the archives.

As might be expected of a family which once spent half a million in electioneering, its treasures have somewhat diminished. But it still has a collection of old china the value of which may be estimated from the fact that a former Earl refused £12,000 for three vases.

THE ROYAL TRAIN

The famous Royal train, which is generally housed in the great sheds at Wolverton, will be used once again, when the King leaves Sandringham for Harrogate.

All the big railway systems have special Royal coaches, but at Wolverton are parked the two State saloons, originally built for King Edward and Queen Alexandra.

The King's coach is decorated in a scheme of green. That of the Queen has pink for a motif. The rest of the train is officially called "semi-Royal."

Special linen for use on the Royal train is in the charge of Mr. Howlett, the King's chief valet.

BALNABOTH HOUSE

Balnaboth House, Glenprosen, where the prime Minister has been the guest of Sir James Barrie, is only about 12 miles from Thurmu, the native town of the famous author.

It is an old home of the Ogilvy family, and has been well-known to Barrie from his boyhood.

The house is not referred to in any of his books, but Prosen Water, the little stream which runs through the estate, is mentioned in "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals."

BLOOMSBURY'S TAXIS

Anyone walking through one of Bloomsbury's quiet squares during the past few days would have been surprised to see about fifty taxicabs lined up round the square, with the drivers talking in groups on the pavement.

If they had thought it was another taxi strike they would have been wrong, for these cabs were awaiting their turn to have their altered meters tested by officials of the Carriage Office of Scotland Yard.

Already several hundred cabs are on the road with the altered meters showing a new minimum fare of 8d., instead of 6d.; but there are 6,000 cabs in London, and the task of changing all their meters must take several weeks.

THE MEASURED MILES

When the meters have been altered and tested at the National Physical Laboratory, the cabs are taken in batches to four central points in London—of which Regent-square, Bloomsbury, is one—and dealt with at the rate of fifty a day at each centre.

Here, officers from the Carriage Office test each cab over measured ground—usually two or three miles—and then affix the official seal.

It is expected that every cab in London will have been fitted with the altered meter within six weeks. The alteration does not necessitate the provision of new meters, and the cost is borne by companies who own the meters, and hire them to the cab owners.

MR. JUSTICE HUMPHREYS

Mr. Justice Humphreys, though not recognised in the handsomest way the service of the jury in the fire-insurance trial, is not to be included among the judges who wholeheartedly support the jury system in all its various ramifications.

More than once he has pronounced the grand jury not to be the palladium of British institutions which many people suppose it to be.

At the Bar he was an expert in the art of condensation. He spared neither time nor trouble in assembling the material for his speeches whether for prosecution or defence.

MR. LLOYD GEORGE AND "ALICE"

I hear that Mr. Lloyd George is to unveil the memorial to "Lewis Carroll" which has been erected on the west shore at Llandudno.

There is nothing distinctly Welsh about "Alice in Wonderland." But the fact remains that, although the story was born on the banks of the Thames, the greater part of it was written in North Wales.

Dodgson stayed regularly at Gogarth Abbey. He was a frequent guest of Dean Liddell, the father of the original Alice, who had a summer residence in the neighbourhood.

The memorial, which stands off high, represents the White Rabbit. Mrs. Hargreaves, the original Alice, will have a replica for herself when she attends the opening ceremony.

WOMAN DIES AT 101

Mrs. Marianne Harling Baker, who has died in her 102nd year at Kingswood Hamlet, Goshall, Surrey, was present at the funeral of the Duke of Wellington and visited the Great Exhibition of 1881.

She was fond of gardening, and after her 100th birthday frequently worked among her flowers with a light fork.

Mrs. Baker had two nieces, who were over 90 years old, and a cousin who lived to the age 111.

THE ETON TRAGEDY

Etonians will re-assemble under the shadow of a tragedy such as their personal mourning of those who knew the dead masters is added a corporate grief for the school itself, for Mount Rose has robbed Eton of four men whose advice and support would have been of inestimable value to the new headmaster, Mr. Claude Elliott.

The death of three senior house-masters and an assistant master within three months of his appointment is a tragic prelude indeed to Mr. Elliott's headmastership.

Few master have more surely inspired devotion in their pupils than Mr. Edward Vere Slater, house-master at The Timbralla, Etonians "up to" Slater were, at first, a little daunted by his apparent fierceness, but to know him was to love him.

As a house-master he was a success from the moment he took over The Timbralla.

THE PRINCE LEAVES FOR BIARRITZ

The Prince of Wales left England yesterday for a holiday at Biarritz. He flew to Paris in his private aeroplane piloted by Captain Fielden, taking lunch with Sir Philip Sassoon at Lympne and reaching Paris just before six o'clock last evening.

Colonel Bone, the British Air Attache, and M. Girardot, the commander of Bourget Airport, greeted the Prince, who after a few moments' conversation drove off with Colonel Bone to the British Embassy to call on Lord Tyrrell, the British Ambassador. None of the score of press photographers and reporters was allowed by the police within a quarter of a mile of the Prince's plane, and a large crowd which had been waiting to catch a glimpse of the Prince were likewise disappointed. The Prince's plane returned to Sunningdale afterwards as he was travelling on to Biarritz by train.

FIRES IN NEW FOREST

Result Of Serious Drought

London, Sept. 11. THE prolonged drought in England continues and the forecast indicates that no break in the fair weather is to be expected for the present.

The water shortage problem is causing some anxiety in the small towns and in villages in several parts of the country.

There were further outbreaks to-day of the fires which during the past few days have devastated hundreds of acres of heath and commons causing heavy damage by the destruction of plantations, particularly in the South of England.

Troops from the Aldershot Command, wearing gas masks and helmets, have been engaged since Saturday in fighting a fire near Petersfield and at Bordon Camp military operations have been suspended to release the troops for fire fighting.

One-third of 115 calls answered by the Fire Brigade in the County London Council area during the week-end were to deal with burning grass and undergrowth.

Extra patrols are on continuous duty in the New Forest where the first fires occurred during the week-end.—British Wireless.

INTERNATIONAL TEA COMMITTEE

Leaders To Meet In London

London, Sept. 12. AN international tea committee representing three producing countries has been constituted in London.

India, Ceylon and the Dutch East Indies each have four members on the committee.

The chairman is Mr. R. Graham (India) and the deputy-chairman is Mr. Clifford Figg (Ceylon).

The Dutch East Indies are represented by Messrs P. Leendertz, D. Dolderhey, W. H. Daukes, and P. A. Waller.—Reuter.

A joint petition was submitted to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs by the overseas Chinese in Siam, requesting that a commercial treaty be concluded with the Siam Government as early as possible so that Chinese Consulate-General could be established in that country for the protection of Chinese merchants' interests.

Racing

As we draw closer to the Race Meeting interest in the performance of the candidates becomes keener and Wednesday and Saturday at the course in the morning draw bigger and bigger attendances. That there are going to be a few upsets is certain, since the latest training performances reveal many changes in form. One of the most improved animal on the first half of the season's form is Gold Key. The pony is looking much better than it has ever done, and may easily account for some of the more popular candidates.

The "A" Class

Now that Trentbridge is here he is, of course, the best of the griffins in training, but there is only one race for him on the 23rd and that is the Island Bay Handicap. The "B" class will have little or no chance and one will have to wait and see what ponies are entered amongst the "A" class before weighing up the chances. The "Dyasty" stable have Trentbridge, King's Justice, Hetman and King's Bounty and ought to be able to account for the race. I don't know if the "Dunbar" stable will be represented, but it looks very much as if it will be.

Sadko Looking Well!

Then there is Sadko. He is looking a picture at present and will make a good show in any company. Gay Crusader is also looking well, and in a handicap event may create an upset. If the "top notchers" stay away from the coming meeting, the "A" and "B" class race from the "Two Miles Post" will be one to watch. Incidentally, entries close to-morrow for the coming meeting.

The Challenge Cup

The Subscription Griffin's Challenge Cup, from all accounts, is going to draw a big field and at the time of writing the consensus of opinion is that Warrington will eat the race up with Golden Dragon and National Day filling the other places. Golden Dragon is strongly fancied in some quarters, and in this connection it is interesting to mention that he was fortunate to escape injury last Saturday when an Australian pony (one of the new arrivals) bumped into him. I hear Vigilance is definitely starting in this race and that Mr. Soares will be riding him. Vigilance can pull it off with a bit of luck, so remember him. Pan is riding Hey Tor, another good one!

Lawn Bowls

Although it is now fully a week since Hyde Lay defeated Luz in the finals of the Singles Championship, this happens to be the first opportunity that I have had of congratulating the K.C.C. player on his splendid performance. He played a level headed game and the importance of the occasion did not once tell on his nerves, as it obviously did on Luz, who gave about his worst display this season. They say that the standard of play at a final never reaches a high mark, and this was certainly true of this year's finals, since both players appeared distinctly off. Inidentally, Hyde Lay scored two possibilities against Luz and the Portuguese player also obtained a "four" in this championship bowls?

Craigengower's Juniors

The Craigengower's junior team will have to pay more attention to their game this week end if they are going to win the championship of the junior division. They are meeting the Civil Service on their own ground and provided they can win that match they will secure the Championship. If they allow the Civil Service to win, then a play-off with the Bowling Green will be necessary, and the odds are that in that case, the Kowloon team will walk away with the match.

Those Surprises

One can only attribute the several upsets in the junior division matches last week, but to the fact that in lawn bowls as in all other sports there is a distinct flagging at the end of the season. The Indians did well to beat the Yacht Club, and I understand they are looking forward to the new season with keen anticipation. The newcomers to the league have only scored two wins, but they have gathered experience and next season they may do better.

Aquatics

The Colony's swimming championships takes place at the end of the month and are open to the whole Colony. I understand that the secretary of the V.R.C. in writing to the secretaries of various swimming clubs, inviting entries, has pointed out that the sport is open to amateurs who have had six months residence in the Colony. This fact has also been advertised. I have stressed that this is a wholly amateur competition because I understand that the members of the Hong Kong International Amateur Swimming Association are not likely to compete in the forthcoming sports. If this is so, their attitude is difficult to understand, as the V.R.C. sports are open to all and are strictly non-professional. They are promoting amateur swimming, and there seems to be no reason why an amateur association should see anything to object to in such a meeting.

Cricket

Interest in cricket begins to grow as the cooler season sets in and this year the main attraction will be the Interport with Shanghai in November. Malaya has also been invited and if they can see their way to come we shall revive the pleasure of the triangular tournaments of a few years ago. Included in the Malayan team, probably, will be Lal Singh, who played for the Indian side in England, getting a season's experience of county teams and Test matches. It will be interesting to see whether his experience has added to the polish and effectiveness of his play. Hong Kong can field a very formidable team, and an interesting series of games can be expected if both Shanghai and Malaya see their way to come.

SERVICE MATCH AT LORD'S

Big Score By The Navy

COMMANDER SHAW'S SPARKLING 98

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, Sept. 23. The Royal Navy gained a big advantage over the Royal Air Force in their annual match at Lord's yesterday, scoring 344 runs in their first innings and dismissing eight of their opponents for 160. Two fine batting performances were accomplished for the Navy by Commander R. J. Shaw and Sub-Lieutenant M. R. Bramwell, and the senior Service gave a better performance in all departments of the game, batting, bowling, and fielding, than their opponents.

The Navy won the toss and batted first on a fast wicket. Commander R. J. Shaw and Major R. A. D. Brooks gave their side a capital start, the former, full of confidence inspired by his century on the M.C.C. on the previous day, attacking the bowling fiercely from the first over. The two fast bowlers, Pilot Officer W. E. S. Tanner and Flying Officer G. P. Longfield, were quickly knocked off their length, and 70 runs were made in the first three-quarters of an hour. Soon afterwards Brooks, reaching forward to Group Captain H. B. Blount, dragged his foot over the crease and was well stumped by Wing Commander G. E. Livock. Shaw, however, playing a careful innings, watched the ball well on to the bat, and rarely missed an opportunity of scoring off any loose one, so that the rate of scoring continued high.

The 100 went up in an hour, and although two more wickets fell, Lieutenant J. B. Newsom playing across a long hop, and Sub-Lieutenant R. J. H. Stephens being beaten by a good ball from Flying Officer G. E. Valentine, the total was 159 when the third wicket fell. At this point Shaw was joined by Sub-Lieutenant M. R. Bramwell, and a very fine stand was made. Bramwell, a left-handed player, uses his wrists beautifully and made some glorious cover drives and square cuts, in addition to some powerful stroke on the leg-side. When he had made 26 he was badly missed at deep point, a very easy chance, and this mistake proved a terribly expensive one for the R.A.F. Shaw continued to play a splendid innings, making most of his runs by well-placed shots on the leg-side, and placed shots on the leg-side were still together, with the score at 234, made in two hours and a half, and Shaw needed but two runs for his century.

He was not destined to get these runs, however, for in the second over after the interval he ran far out of his ground to Blount and was easily stumped. For a time then the game ran in favour of the R.A.F., four wickets falling for an addition of 50 runs, but Bramwell was still undefeated and scoring quickly. When, for the ninth wicket, he was joined by Lieutenant-Commander S. Boucher, he hit out furiously for his century, and Boucher was but little less severe. The latter sent up the 300 with a high on-drive, in making which he fell to the ground, but was still able to run two after regaining his feet. Bramwell just reached his 100, but was l-b-w. to Blount directly afterwards, and the innings closed for 344, made at the rate of nearly 100 an hour. Blount was by far the most successful bowler, and his analysis of six wickets for 81 was remarkably good for a slow bowler in an innings of such powerful hitting.

When the R.A.F. went in they had to face much steeper bowling and of a better length, and the batting was in consequence far (Continued on next column)

more sedate. The first hour's play produced 40 runs only, and before that their captain, Flight Lieutenant A. J. Holmes, who shaped very well indeed, had been bowled by a googly from Brooks. In the next hour disaster after disaster overtook the R.A.F. Brooks managed his varied bowling cleverly, and on four separate occasions a change of bowling meant a wicket in the first over. Had it not been for a stubborn innings by Corporal Powell, who went in at the fall of the second wicket and was still undefeated at the close, the R.A.F. would indeed have been in a sorry plight. For a long time he could get no one to stay with him, and six wickets were down for 86 runs, but stands for the seventh and eighth each yielded 30. The first was broken by a magnificent catch by Lieutenant-Commander T. E. Halsey, who held a return from Flying Officer G. F. Longfield an inch above the ground, though the rolling over in the effort, and the second by an equally good catch at long leg off Shaw, who had been put on with lots to try to separate the batsmen. Powell reached his 50 just before stumps were drawn, when the R.A.F. still needed 85 runs to save the follow-on with two wickets in hand.

Mr. T. B. Wilson Describes Rotary Convention

At the meeting of the Rotary Club yesterday, the President, Mr. T. B. Wilson, discussed some of the questions which came before the annual Convention of Rotary International held at Boston.

Visitors present were: Dr. G. W. Leavell of Wuchow, Captain Fred Anderson, of the "President Hoover," Mr. C. S. Salmon, of the Manila Rotary Club and Mr. Edward Shim of the Canton Rotary Club.

A new member, Mr. E. Bacci, was welcomed, also Professor Shell and Mr. A. Reinshagen on return from leave. The latter handed to the Club a souvenir flag which had been entrusted to him when attending a meeting of the Zurich Club.

JAPANESE EGGS FOR SINGAPORE

Singapore, Sept. 12. Following the dumping of cotton piece-goods in Malaya, Japanese have started importing foodstuffs into the Straits Settlements.

Eggs, scientifically packed, in order to keep fresh for weeks, are being imported from Japan and retailed at one cent each, compared with 2½ cents each for local eggs.

Large quantities of Japanese canned provisions and condiments are also being sold at prices much below those from China, and Chinese shops are alleged to be retailing them under false Chinese labels.—Reuter.

SINO-JAPANESE ENTENTE

Shanghai, Sept. 12. Finishing touches to the new Sino-Japanese entente were put to-day after a conference between Lieutenant Colonel Nanki of the Tokyo General Staff and General Huang Fu, chairman of the Peiping Political Affairs Readjustment Committee, at the latter's mansion.

The two officials had conference lasting two hours, and it is understood that all phases of Sino-Japanese relations were reviewed and discussed.

Following this complete understanding, Mr. Chang Tso-pin will return to Tokyo to resume his post as Chinese Minister to Japan.—Central Press.

ROSE ROOM RE-OPENING

Don And Sally Engaged

Don and Sally, the popular pair of entertainers, are due back in Hong Kong for the re-opening of the Rose Room of the Peninsula Hotel before they proceed to Europe.

Much has to be said of these dancers who have given the Far East such excellent entertainment. Brought from the United States by the Canidrome Ball Room, they were largely responsible for the success of this well known resort and were held over for several months. They appeared in Hong Kong at the end of last season and after several well known clubs in Shanghai had bargained for their services, the Cathay Hotel finally signed them to appear on their floor.

The management of the Peninsula Hotel re-engaged Don and Sally Jennings on the suggestion of many patrons who had admired them before. Every dance they do is a poem of loveliness and beauty. Pages could be written of the beauty of Sally, particularly when she wears the rose petal gown which has been made especially for her appearance in the Rose Room on the 7th October. Sally looks like a painting come to life.

On the programme with these favourites will be Lillian and Virginia Worth, whose dancing is fresh as a breath of air from an open field. These two American beauties have been received enthusiastically in the U.S.A. Both are lovely youngsters and their work is the last word in grace and beauty.

Virginia Worth is really Virginia Brooks, who until just recently appeared on the Silver Screen in Educational Comedies and Lillian was appearing in the Pasadena Playhouse in George Bernard Shaw's play "The Applecart," playing the part of the King's mistress.

With beauty such as these girls possess, entertaining is the last thing they should do. Just to walk on the floor and be admired would be sufficient.

With entertainers of such standard the Rose Room is sure to be packed to capacity and add one more to its list of successes.

SQUADRON LEADER TREVETHAN

The appointment of Squadron Leader R. M. Trevethan, M.C., from the non-effective sick list to No. 99 (Bomber) Squadron, Upper Heyford, for Flying Duties in the place of Wing Commander A. S. Maskell, is to date from August 11, 1933.

Squadron Leader Trevethan was born in 1885, in Utah, United States, and was gazetted as a second lieutenant to the 6th (Service) Battalion of the South Lancashire Regiment in September, 1914, transferring to the R.F.C. in 1917. He served in France with No. 20 Squadron, being wounded in September, 1917, in which year he was awarded the M.C. for gallantry on offensive patrols, in attacking enemy formations regardless of their superiority in numbers. He shot down at least four enemy aircraft and drove down others out of control. Later, he served with No. 48 Wing, and with night training squadrons, and in 1919 served in Russia, where he was mentioned in dispatches and awarded the Order of St. Anne, second class, with swords. In 1925-26 he specialized in meteorology, has since served in Iraq and the Far East, and has commanded No. 440 Flight, attached to the aircraft carrier Hermes, China Station.

BUILDERS BUSY IN KOWLOON

Chater Bungalow Site

(BY OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

A few days ago, the leading article in this paper referred to the building trade of Hong Kong, and mention was made of the many modern buildings—offices, residences and tenement houses—that have been completed during the past year or so, and of the many more that are in the course of construction. The article in question, however, did not make specific reference to the buildings in Kowloon and as there is a great deal of work going on in the peninsula, I should like to mention some of them—not all, for that would be too much for one article.

One does not need to go far from the ferry to see the work that is being done, and, on the old Chater Bungalow site alone, a good many modern dwelling-houses are being put up, some of which have already been completed and are already in occupation.

Writing on this subject reminds one of the good old days before the land was sold. Then, the grounds of the bungalow, with its low walls and trees growing all along the border, gave that part of Kowloon quite a small atmosphere. I always looked upon it as the seat of the squire, as it were, but that was in the old days—long before the many modern buildings in the immediate vicinity were put up. To the older generation, Chater Bungalow was one of the landmarks of Kowloon and with its passing began a new chapter in the history of the peninsula.

So much for that particular district. On going along Nathan Road, we see new buildings on every side—large and spacious buildings that have taken the place of the old-style houses which are now only to be found in the slum quarters of Yau-mai and Shamshuipo.

Going still further north, we come to Waterloo Road, Prince Edward Road, Homantin and Kowloon Tong, and in all these districts we find evidence of development. All sorts and sizes of houses may be seen in these quarters, and in Prince Edward Road, may be found some of the prettiest houses—detached or semi-detached in the whole of the mainland and indeed of the Colony.

The trade depression does not appear to have hit real estate owners or landlords in the least, for whatever effect it has had on business in general, house-building goes on merrily all the time.

TERRITORIAL ARMY

INCREASE IN STRENGTH DURING JULY

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, Aug. 30. The latest official returns show that during July there was an increase of 540 in the strength of the Territorial Army, making the total strength on August 1 128,500 other ranks. This is a net increase in strength of 8,333 since January 1, 1933.

During July 2,793 recruits were finally approved for the Territorial Army, against 1,568 in July 1932. The intake of recruits from January 1 last to July 31 was 28,042, which is an increase of 15,227 recruits compared with the corresponding period last year.

The numbers of recruits obtained in each Command were as follows:—Eastern Command, 378; London District, 315; Northern Command, 792; Scottish Command, 135; Southern Command, 625; Western Command, 572. The largest number of recruits (288) were obtained by the 46th (North Midland) Division, followed by the 53rd (Welsh) Division, with 266 recruits, and the 48th (South Midland) Division with 247.

The strengths of the 14 Infantry Divisions on August 1 were as follows, the corresponding figures on July 1 being shown in parentheses: 51st (Highland) Divn., 8,760 (8,694); 50th (Northumbrian) Divn., 8,693 (8,732); 46th (N. Midland) Divn., 8,366 (8,217); 53rd (Welsh) Divn., 8,310 (8,131); 42nd (E. Lancashire) Divn., 8,287 (8,324); 43rd (Wessex) Divn., 7,673 (7,605); 49th (W. Riding) Divn., 7,666 (7,486); 52nd (Lowland) Divn., 7,526 (7,565); 48th (S. Midland) Divn., 7,236 (7,103); 55th (W. Lancashire) Divn., 7,195 (7,217); 44th (Home Counties) Divn., 7,090 (7,049); 54th (E. Anglian) Divn., 6,020 (5,994); 56th (1st London) Divn., 6,116 (6,071); 47th (2nd London) Divn., 5,426 (5,447).

WOMEN DETECTIVES

Three Appointed To Scotland Yard

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, Aug. 23. Three women have been appointed to the detective staff at Scotland Yard.

Since June last year these women, members of the uniform branch, have been attached to Vine-street Division, working in plain clothes. Reports of their activities have been closely watched by the authorities, and their usefulness had been demonstrated in cases where men would have been handicapped. The scheme has proved so successful that, with the sanction of Lord Trenchard, the positions have now been made permanent.

It is probable that further appointments will be made after women have served a probationary period in C.L.D. work. The women will have their own quarters in police-stations, and will work under the leadership of divisional detective inspectors in charge of the criminal investigation departments of the division.

THE SHORTS FASHION

(Special Air-Mail Service)

August 23. From a friend who is watching the progress of the American lawn tennis championships, I hear some particulars of the shorts with which Miss Jacobs set what seems likely to become a general fashion. Mrs. Whittingstall's shorts are well-known over here, but Miss Jacobs is the first player to don them for a championship. The champion's "abbreviated trousers" are not, I understand, ordinary shorts. They were made in London and have, in my friend's words, a "seductive strip of blue down the side." The noble-hearted American crowd cheered enthusiastically when they appeared for the first time. Apparently, too, they have a definite "gate value."

Territorial Army on August 1 was 7,007; this is an increase of 41 during the month, but the number is still 1,015 short of establishment.

AQUATICS

Borderers' Hold
Annual Meeting

H.Q. WING WIN CHAM-PIONSHIPS

In spite of the threatening weather the annual aquatic sports of the South Wales Borderers were held at the Y.M.C.A. Kowloon, yesterday in the presence of a fairly large gathering of interested spectators.

The H.Q. Wing won the Regimental championship with 45
points, and "A" Company was second with 36 points. A novel feature was introduced this year—the officers taking part in most of the events with the ranks. One of the races that aroused much interest
was that in which teams composed, respectively, of officers, sergeants, corporals and privates took part. It was won by the last named with the corporals second
and the officers third.

The results were as follows:—
Inter-Company Relay Race.
Team of six. Each man to swim
25 yards:—1. H.Q. Wing (Pte. 35
John, L/C. Fullager, Pte. Manard, Pte. Lockhart, Pte. Martin and
Pte. Allen); 2. "A" Company (Lt.
T. H. S. Galletly, Lt. A. G. Martin,
Pte. Gilmore, Pte. Morrison, Pte.
85 Johnes and Pte. Hall); 3. "B" Company; 4. "C" Company and 5th. "D" (M.G.) Company.

Company half-mile Race:—1. "A" Company; 2. H.Q. Wing.
Enlisted Boys' Race (Handicap):
1. 60 Smith; 2. Dale.

Diving:—1. "A" Company (Cpl.
Morgan and Pte. Morrison); 2.
H.Q. Wing (L/C. Linneyton and Dmr. Coase).

300 Yards. Inter-Company Relay:—1. H.Q. Wing (Pte. Maynard 25 yards, Dmr. Smith 50 yards, L/C.
Fullager 75 yards, L/C. Sutherland
75 yards, Pte. Martin 50 yards and Pte. 35 John 25 yards); 2. "B" Company; 3. "A" Company.

Officers, Sergeants, Corporals and Privates Relay Race:—1. Privates;
2. Corporals; 3. Officers.

Inter-Company Three Styles Relay Race:—1. H.Q. Wing; 2. "C" Company; 3. "D" (M.G.) Company.

Water Polo:—Sergeants beat

FAMOUS ARSENAL FOR- WARDS INJURED

Shock for Aston Villa: 'Spurs'
Good Start

55,000 CROWD AT NEWCASTLE

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, Aug. 28.

An eighty-in-the-shade Soccer start! Shirt-sleeved crowds and,
at Everton, a shirt-sleeved referee,
who became so mixed up with the players that he had to put his coat on again.

Sensational results, and, unhappily, a long list of casualties, major and minor, with several distinguished players involved.

The Birmingham players, before their match at Highbury, had a cold bath, a daring piece of training heresy which may or may not have had something to do with their achieving one of the big feats of the day—a draw with Arsenal.

More significant than anything else, however, was the triumph of Leicester City at Villa Park, and victories for Middlesbrough, Blackburn, Stoke and Wolverhampton.
These are the clubs who most of all needed the tonic of a good start. Nothing could be better for the general health of the game.

Truth About James and Hulme.

At the head of the abnormal injured list are the two Arsenal
stars, Alex James and Joe Hulme.
The air was full of rumours about yesterday, so the writer took with Mr. Herbert Chapman on the subject.

"James," he said, "was practically out of the game after seven minutes' play, when he had a blow
on the nerve-centre in the thigh,
which affected the whole of his
leg. Then came the ankle injury, which is not to be confused with the injury which kept him out of the Cup Final of 1932. That was knee trouble.

"He has had an X-ray examination, which shows that no bones
are broken, but we shall know nothing about how serious the trouble is until late in the week.
Hulme's is a knee injury, and bad enough. This may be very troublesome, but here again we shall know nothing definite for a few days."

Coming Test For Arsenal

Fortunately for the Arsenal they have no fixture until next Saturday, but then they have one of their big tests on the Sheffield
Wednesday ground.

Birkitt, the reserve outside right,
has been down with influenza, and,
of course, no club could adequately duplicate the Alex James position.

The writer's view is that neither James nor Hulme will be in the team next Saturday, and that both might miss several of the September games.

Wednesday v. Villa To-day.

Aston Villa's defeat was no fluke. Leicester City were at one point of the game leading by three goals to nil, one of them scored by the Leicester centre, Maw, after five minutes.

Special mention is made of this because when Maw left Notts County last February his first good turn for his new club was to register a hat-trick against Aston Villa.

DR. J. C. GREGORY TO MARRY

Davis Cup Player

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, August 28.

The engagement is announced of Dr. J. Colin Gregory, the former British Davis Cup player, son of Dr. W. H. and Mrs. Gregory, of Beverley, Yorks, and Miss Phyllis Priestley, second daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. Walter Priestley, of Harrogate.

Dr. Gregory won the Australian Singles Championship in 1929, and has five times won the North of England Hard Court Singles
Championship. With Mr. I. G.
Collins he was well-known as a doubles player in Davis Cup matches.
In 1929 they reached the final of the Doubles Championship at Wimbledon.

ADMIRAL WAISTELL'S FOUR WICKETS

Former China Fleet C-in-C.

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, August 28.

A team of admirals at Portsmouth
yesterday afternoon played the Portsmouth City Council cricket.
Batting first, the Council were dismissed for 80 runs, the Commander-in-Chief, Admiral Sir A. Waistell,

The Villa are not in the least likely to be thrown into a panic over an opening match reverse, but they will have to take notice of their half-backs and the expensive
new left wing, Cunliffe and Dix,
do not shape better on the Sheffield Wednesday's ground to-day.
Early season form can generally be ignored, but the match at Sheffield to-day will probably tell us
a lot we want to know.

Dean's Important Goal.

Dean scored the one goal which gave the Cupholders a win over the Abdon, and he needs only two more for his 300th League goal.

Portsmouth were leading 2-0 at the interval at Newcastle, where (the largest crowd of the day
(55,000) were vastly relieved when Lang and Allen managed to save the day for the home side in the second half.

Writing of crowds, Huddersfield
are in a bad way when only 8,000
turn up for a fixture so attractive
as a visit from Sunderland.

The 'Spurs have every reason to feel pleased, not only with the point they picked up in their first venture at Bramall-lane, but the
"class" way their team played.
There will be a great crowd at White Hart-lane to-day to see the Wolves.

London's Promotion Bid.

Last season in the Second Division Plymouth Argyle made the pace at the start and kept going well into the New Year. They topped the honour list on Saturday with a 4-0 victory over the greatly fancied Manchester United side.

West Ham are off the mark well,
with veteran Victor Watson among the goal-getters, and, with Millwall winning at Lincoln, Brent-ford bringing away a point from Notts Forest, and Fulham getting three goals against Port Vale, all seems set fair for a London promotion bid.

This, indeed, may prove one of the most interesting features of the new season. Both Fulham and Millwall should get two more points
from their home games to-day.
Southampton, for whom Vivian Gibbins may shortly be playing,
cheered up Manager George Kay
with a handsome 4-1 win over Bradford City.

Third Division Honours.

Crystal Palace took chief honours in the Southern Third Division with a 4-1 win at Southend.
It is not too early to say that the other teams to watch in this section are Reading, Norwich, Coven-try, Luton and perhaps, Bristol Rovers, with a Cardiff City revival also indicated. There was a 25,000
crowd at the Bristol battle.

Only the Arsenal scored more goals than Coventry City last season, and Harry Storer's team began the new season by being top scorers with seven against Gilling-ham.

In the Northern Section the surprises were the defeat of Wrexham and the rout of Southport, Chester, Chesterfield and Barnsley
must be feeling hopeful.

1933 EDITION OF THE STREET INDEX

Limited Number Of Copies Available

The Land Office informs us that a new edition of the Street Index is being sent to the Government Printers this week.

The preparation of the new edition has been a formidable task, as there has been no edition for over three years, in which time there has been very active development in the Colony.

It has been necessary to examine
some 21,000 Land Office Memorials, nearly 3,000 Crown Leases, and several hundred Crown Lease plans
for leases still unissued, some 900
contracts of sale, grant or exchange, and many other incidental documents; 80 new streets have been inserted, and the book has had to be completely written in parts.

Persons who desire to purchase
this publication who have not already placed their orders, should communicate with the Government
Printers, or with the Assistant Land Officer, at an early date, as only a limited number of copies will be available for sale to the public.

PARIS FASHIONS

Three New Collections

(Special Air-Mail Service)

PARIS, Aug. 28.

Chanel's autumn and winter ensembles, many of which are tailor-
made, are simple in cut and style,
and the materials are decorative.
Jerseys, show small and gay patterns as in peasant embroideries, spots, dots, and stripes. Velvetene is for morning and evening. Ribbed and Roman-striped velvets are for blouses and neck scarves. Flax and metal thread are woven into an afternoon material. For evening there are thread laces worked with metal, sapphire, and dignified
gold brocades, lacquered and blis-sioned satins, plain satins and soft moiré, plain crêpes, chiffon, and fine lace.

Black is much in fashion; and there are greens, many reds, navy
blue, brown, and black and white together. Leopard-skin trims brocade, broadtail, astrakhan,
and nutria are other trimmings.

On evening, dresses Chanel puts
a little ruche round the neckline,
which is frequently cut to a long boat shape. Little sleeves are usual. Square and pointed necklines are also correct. The waistline, which has not changed, dips
very slightly at the back. Evening dresses just escape the ground; a few have trains. Lace dresses have transparent long sleeves, leaving the turn of the arm bare; a brocade dress also has long sleeves and a low neck. An evening wrap has a velvet hood. There are velvet and fur evening wraps of all lengths.
Afternoon skirts are a little longer
than those worn in the morning.

Bryère has adopted the sloping shoulder line. The Bryère coats are long and straight, with high stand-up collars, sloping shoulders,
and fairly wide sleeves with fur
cuffs. Unlike most dressmakers
this season Bryère puts no pockets on dress skirts. Quilted pockets, cuffs, and collars may trim
a cloth coat instead of fur.

Plaistons are worn and also waist-coats, some of which are of fur. Belts too with coats. Hats are worn off the face and may have brims, or be of fur in the cape of a small bushy with an aigrette fitting up straight in front.
Velvet, soft, ribbed and hairy wool-lens, artificial silk in ribbed and crêpe textures, taffetas, baile, and crêpe are the materials, they are specially designed and youthful in line. Buttons, bows, and narrow white neck ribbons are among the few trimmings which Bryère allows. Her evening dresses are just as simple. The skirts come short off the ground and show some fullness from below the knees.
Brown, black, and white are recommended for dinner dresses.

LONDON FINANCE NOTES

(Special Air-Mail Service)

IMPERIAL BANK OF INDIA REPORT

LONDON, Aug. 23.

The sharp contraction in net profits of the Imperial Bank of India for the first half of 1933—namely, from Rs.60,97,590 to Rs.38,21,727, is explained by the directors in their report as being due to a poor trade demand for money and a lower return on Treasury Bills and Government Securities. Moreover, while deposit rates have been reduced, the full effect of this action cannot be felt for some time, as old deposits at the higher rates for fixed periods have to run off. In the following comparison of the principal balance-sheet items with those of last year it will be noticed that the cash credits, i.e., advances, have fallen from Rs.26,67,99,000 to Rs.18,63,05,000:

	June 30, 1933	June 30, 1932
Public deposits	5,52,49, 18,08,32
Other deposits	74,23,55, 61,49,44
Government securities	38,45,23, 27,31,22
Other securities	1,28,20, 2,48,53
Advances to India Govt.	1,00,00, Nil
Loans	3,62,62, 8,39,92
Cash credits	18,63,04, 26,67,99
Inland bills discounted	2,02,81, 1,79,24
Cash	23,08,03, 29,01,87

The lower return on Government securities is partly attributable to the extensive conversion operations carried out by the Indian Government, which have resulted in a reduction of about 1 per cent. in the interest payable on about Rs.44,00,000 of India's debt. Easy money conditions were reflected in a lower average Indian Bank rate—namely, 3.627, against 4.022 per cent. for the first half of 1932.

ANGLO-ORIENTAL MINING

The Anglo-Oriental Mining Corporation, a holding company, reports that revenue for the year ended February 28 last, at £23,823, was without material change, but expenses were reduced, the profits being £27,915 (against £23,533). After placing £4,040 to taxation reserve, it is proposed to transfer £25,000 to investment reserve (unchanged) and to increase the balance forward from £103,412 to £121,387. No return was again received on the large investment in the shares of the London Tin Corporation, and on this occasion no dividend is included from the Anglo-Oriental and General Investment Trust. The corresponding years of these two companies, in which the greater part of the corporation's funds are invested, both ended in 1932, at a period when the depression was at its deepest. There has since been an appreciable recovery; but there can be no assurance of stability, continue the directors, while the permitted output of tin remains restricted to the minimum quota—namely, one-third of standard—and no justification, in such circumstances, for depleting the corporation's cash resources in the absence of any return in respect to the principal investments. The directors accordingly regret that they cannot yet recommend the resumption of dividend payments. The Preference dividend is in arrears as from September 1, 1930.

In the balance-sheet, investments, which are taken at cost, show little change at £1,623,554, while the remaining net assets amount to £135,210 (against £126,006). The directors state that, although the ascertained value of the quoted investments at the market prices now ruling discloses a material appreciation compared with those obtaining at the date of the last report, it is still considerably below cost. There has been no material change in the investments. The corporation continues to hold all the shares of the Anglo-Oriental and General Investment Trust, and remains the largest shareholder in London Tin Corporation. The shares formerly held in the British-American Tin Corporation, which has since been liquidated, were exchanged for shares of Tin Holdings, Limited, and of British Tin Investment Corporation; the latter, holding, together with that in London Tin Corporation, confer an indirect interest in the majority of the principal tin mines of Malaya and Nigeria. Meeting, August 31.

TRIPLEX GLASS DIVIDEND

A dividend of 2s. 6d. a share has been declared by the Triplex Safety Glass Company for the year ended June 30. The dividend is equal to 25 per cent. on the present capital, the company at the end of 1932 having reduced its authorized and issued capital from £400,000 to £200,000 by the return of 10s. in respect of each share of £1. Since its conversion in 1925 from a private to a public undertaking the Triplex Company has shown consistent ability to earn good profits. In respect of 1932 a capital bonus of 100 per cent. was paid and this means that those shareholders who acquired their shares before the bonus payment retain their original nominal holding in the company, although they have been repaid its equivalent in cash. For each of the years 1930-31 and 1931-32 the dividend on the then shares of £1 (Continued on next column).

H.K. STOCK MARKET

YESTERDAY'S OFFICIAL QUOTATIONS

Investment securities displayed firmness throughout the day, but business was necessarily limited owing to lack of offerings. In the lower-priced issues, Cements did not maintain yesterday's advance, having receded to $4.40. Hotels also were decidedly off colour throughout the day's session.

There was again considerable excitement in the Philippine mining shares, the entire list recording advances, the issues more specially favoured being, Antamoks, Balatoes, Benguet Consolidated and Benguet Explorations. Cable reports from Manila state that the market there is "wildly excited."

Sales.
Antamoks $113/130.
Baguio Gold, $112/125.
Benguet Consolidated, $50/52.
Big Wedge, 45 cents.
Ewo Cottons, $14.
Hong Kong Trams, $22.40.
Telephones, $33.

Buyers.

THE EXCHANGE MARKET

MESSRS. ROZA BROS.
REPORT

Messrs. Roza Bros. have forwarded us the following exchange market report for yesterday:—

The price for Ready Silver rose 1/16 yesterday but the Forward rate was higher by 1/8, the quotations being 18 1/2 for Ready and 18 1/2 for Forward. Silver advances reported China as having bought. America was inclined to buy. The tone at the close was steady. In America the rate rose 1/2 to 3/4 for Spot.

New York advices reported the rate at 4.55.

Market.
Dull, the tone was steady.

Sterling.
Business was done during the course of the morning at 1/5 1/2 for near delivery. The market closed at lunch time with sellers at 1/5 September and 1/5 1/2 October, buyers at 1/3 higher respectively.

U.S. Dollars.
Business was done at 32.5/16 for second half September. There were sellers at 32.5/16 September and 23 1/2 October, buyers at 1/16 higher respectively.

Yen.
Merchants were quoted at 190 1/2 for near delivery.

Shanghai Dollars.
Shanghai dollars were lower at 111 for cash.

Shanghai

Steady. Business was reported at 1/3 1/2 for October delivery. There were sellers at 1/3 1/2 September, buyers at 1/3 1/2 for near.

each was 10 per cent. It is evident, therefore, that the past year has been a satisfactory one from the revenue standpoint. The company has just strengthened its position in the trade by acquiring the goodwill of Protecto-glass, Limited, another large manufacturer of safety glass, with a factory at Slough. It has been officially stated that this deal will not involve the raising of additional capital.

THE HIMALAYA

How She Joined P. &amp; O. Fleet

On August 9, 1854, the Government exercised its power of compulsory purchase and bought the P. and O. liner Himalaya which had previously been chartered as a Crimean transport. She was the biggest ship afloat, 3,608 tons register, and was originally laid down as a paddler, the design being changed on the stocks to screw before she was launched in 1853. She was also the fastest ocean liner, for she could manage 14 knots comfortably, but after breaking a few records and attracting great attention, she proved to the P. and O. that she was too big and expensive for their purpose, and although she could be run quite profitably on the troping charter of 50s per ton per month, it was realised that she was before her time and would never pay on ordinary service, so that the company was quite glad to sell her to the Navy for £114,000. Alexander Gray, her chief engineer, was specially transferred to the Navy with her. There is no doubt that the Government also got an excellent bargain, for she was engaged on naval troping for many years, carrying reliefs to the distant stations, and then continued in the useful, but humble role of coal bulk. In that capacity she is still to be seen at Portland, her iron hull being as sound as a bell after 80 years.

GERMAN SCRAPPING

PROGRAMME

PROVIDES EMPLOYMENT

A good deal of employment is being provided at the German shipyards by the breaking-up of vessels under the Government's scrapping scheme. Of the 111 vessels, of 600 tons gross, intended for scrapping thirty of 103,877 tons, had been definitely sold by March 31 last, and by June 37 more steamers, of 29,500 tons, had been added to the list. At the end of April, sixteen vessels, of 64,229 tons gross, had been completely broken up, while fifty-nine vessels, of 206,943 tons, were lying at the shipyards, and on most of them breaking-up was proceeding. Thirty-five vessels, of 139,525 tons, intended for the ship-breakers, were laid up in various ports, while one vessel of 3,179 tons, was still trading.
